Insurgents Gird For Stand Against Ky

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky fired the military commander of the rebellious northern provinces today, but insurgent forces moved up tanks and artillery in the old Buddhist stronghold of Hue for a stand against the government.

Five persons were reported killed in the government's sudden move on Da Nang Sunday.

As the military junta pressed ahead with efforts to reassert its authority in the north, the United States was reported to have warned the ruling generals that further turmoil and strife could only help the Communists.

Sprawling Saigon remained outwardly calm, but thousands of workers went on strike, slowing down the unloading of vital military cargo in the congested port.

Urgent meetings continued through the day at the powerful Buddhist Institute, where Buddhist leaders considered their next move in the wake of the government's lightning troop moves against Da Nang.

A Buddhist spokesman and former Cabinet minister, Tran Quang Thuan, repeated Buddhist charges that the Ky government had committed treason and violated its pledge of a political truce until fall elections by sending marines and paratroopers north. However, he said the Buddhist leaders had issued orders to their followers to remain calm until the monks issue instructions.

In a special broadcast, Lt. Gen Nguyen Van Thieu, chief of state, defended the seizure of key military installations in Da Nang as a blow against Communist-infiltrated Buddhist rebels. Thieu, a Roman Catholic, called on "every citizen to be aware of the danger to the nation."

U. S. troops kept cautiously in the background, lest the disturbances again take an anti-American tone.

Ky dismissed Maj. Gen. Ton That Dinh, one of the young military men who took part in the 1963 coup against President Ngo Dinh Diem, after he denounced the secrecy-shrouded predawn airlift to Da Nang in a broadcast from Hue.

As Dinh's replacement, Ky named Brig. Gen. Huynh Van Cao, the government's psychological warfare chief.

The reshuffle came as reports from Hue said the insurgents had moved troops, tanks and artillery on to the airfield to block any attempt by Ky to seize the old imperial capital 400 miles northeast of Saigon in a repetition of the weekend strike against Da Nang. Hue is 50 miles north of Da Nang.

Banners fluttered throughout Hue denouncing the "Thieu-Ky clique who have broken their promises to the Vietnamese people" and for "sending troops to Da Nang to kill people."

The Hue radio kept up a drumfire of antigovernment broadcasts. It said the influential Buddhist leader, Thich Tri Quang, had sent a telegram to President Johnson calling on the United States to intervene and help remove the military regime. Quang was reported in Hue.

He is the politically powerful monk considered the mastermind of the Buddhist agitation that forced the government in April to promise elections within three to five months. The core of his following comes from the 1st Corps area. The Buddhists used Ky's dismissal of a previous commander of the 1st Corps in mid-March as a pretext for starting their campaign against the junta.

The old commander, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, another popular figure, was reported in Hue also. There were rumors he might be playing a role in the activities of the 1st Division, which has been opposed to the Saigon government since he was stripped of his command.

Drive Launched

Against Cong Base

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two regiments of South Vietnamese launched a drive today against a Viet Cong base southwest of Saigon, a Vietnamese army spokesman announced.

The Vietnamese army spokesman said two regiments of the 9th Vietnamese Division — about 3,000 men — began a drive at dawn aimed at destroying a Viet Cong base camp.

The spokesman said the regiments were bolstered by units of armored carrier personnel and rangers but gave no indication of their size.

He said that toward noon the government forces met light Viet Cong resistance, possibly at the outposts of the target base camp. They killed 32 guerrillas and seized 25 weapons while suffering light casualties of their own, the spokesman said.

The Vietnamese forces reportedly taking a 20-bed hospital and a Viet Cong arms-making ordnance shop. The spokesman said the operation was continuing.

U. S. Air Force B 52 bombers again struck at a Viet Cong base camp and storage area today, 70 miles north of Saigon. This was the second time in as many days the eight-engine bombers hit the same target area near the Cambodian border in Binh Long Province.

Primary Hit By Bad Luck Second Time

HARRISBURG (AP)—Ill fortune again has muddled the Pennsylvania primary election which looms just hours away.

Milton Shapp, a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, flew to Miami, Fla., Sunday, after his mother suffered a heart attack there.

His office said this has forced cancellation of all personal appearances. Shapp, who is waging an independent campaign, may fly back to Pennsylvania tonight to vote in the primary Tuesday, a press aide said.

Just last week, Atty. Gen. Walter E. Alessandrini, a candidate for lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket headed by Raymond P. Shafer, was killed in a plane crash near Somerset.

Because of state election laws, Alessandrini's name remains on the ballot. If he is nominated, the Republican state committee will pick a substitute to run in the general election in November.

Meanwhile, an estimated 5.3 million Pennsylvanians are eligible to vote in the primary.

This breaks down into 2.64 million Republicans and 2.73 million Democrats.

The polls will be open in 9,393 precincts from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m., Eastern Daylight Time. Previously, elections were conducted under standard time.

Shafer, the present lieutenant governor, has the backing of the state GOP organization and the blessings of Gov. Scranton, also a Republican.

Shafer is considered by political observers to be a safe bet to gain the nomination. Other GOP gubernatorial hopefuls include former Minnesota Gov. Harold S. Stassen and Dr. George J. Brett, a Lancaster dentist.

The picture is different on the Democratic side. The state Democratic organization has endorsed Sen. Robert P. Casey, a freshman state senator. He predicted Sunday night that he would carry all 67 Pennsylvania counties and win the nomination by 200,000 votes.

But Shapp has been making a

Two Astronauts Go Over Details

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Healthy and eager on the eve of a bold space adventure, Gemini 9's two astronauts boned up on intricate details of their complex assignment today as preparations for Tuesday's launch continued.

Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan have "the toughest job ever handed an astronaut crew," one official said.

Only the weather cast a glimmer of doubt about Tuesday's 12:39 p.m. EDT launch of Gemini 9, an hour and 39 minutes after the scheduled liftoff of its Agena target rocket.

Weather observers eyed a weak "east wave" in the Atlantic Ocean creeping toward the area 575 miles southeast of Bermuda where the recovery aircraft carrier Wasp will be stationed in event of an abort.

A Wasp weather officer said the observers were hopeful the squally front would break up before it reached the area. "It's still too soon to tell," one weatherman said.

Stafford and Cernan planned to discuss their flight plan for the final time with project officials. Sunday, they got their final day of rest before their voyage.

In three action-packed days, the Gemini 9 crew plans to Vote Expected On Tuesday

Financing Program Fight Gets Under Way In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration opens today what could be one of the grimmest fights of the Congress — to enact a $4.2-billion financing program that could make the difference between a nearly balanced budget next year and one $6 billion in the red.

The bill comes before the House today with a vote expected Tuesday. It would permit the government to shift government loans to private investors by putting them in a pool and selling shares in this. Thus the government could convert such assets into cash for use by its agencies, avoiding the need for appropriations.

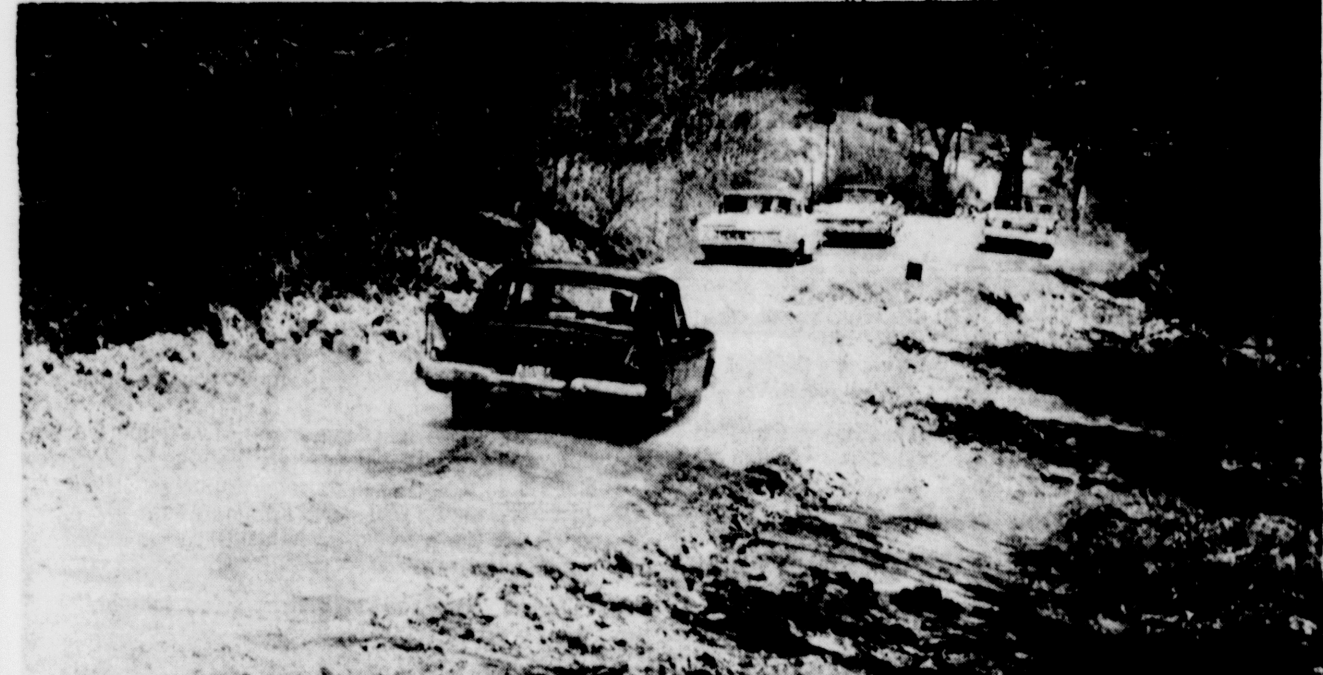

The measure has encountered wide opposition. Republicans have called it a budget gimmick to conceal the amount of government spending. Other opponents — including the Farmers Union and the Americans for Democratic Action — say it would cost the taxpayers more in interest than straight Treasury borrowing.

As soon as the financing measure is disposed of, the House is scheduled to start debating another highly controversial piece of legislation to increase minimum wages.

The measure would increase the minimum wage from the present $1.25 an hour to $1.40 next Feb. 1 and $1.60 an hour a year later.

The measure also would extend coverage of the act to 7.2 million additional workers. A

St. Clair Township road crews today were filling the section with dirt and some traffic was allowed to pass. The earth started moving downhill near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Young. Some trees were falling as a result of the movement and the road dropped three feet in places.

Typhoon-Hit Ship On Reef; 155 In Danger

Giant Seas Hammer Steamer Caught Off Philippine Island

MANILA (AP) — Typhoon Irma drove a small Filipino interisland ship aground off Cebu Island today and the situation of about 155 persons aboard was described as critical.

Giant seas lashed the 740-ton interisland steamer Pioneer Cebu and kept rescue ships from going to her assistance. Reports from the area said the center of Typhoon Irma, with 80-mile an hour winds, was almost directly over the ship.

A spokesman for the ship's owners said the exact number of passengers aboard was unknown, but he thought there were about 100 with a crew of 55.

A radio operator at Philippine President Lines in Manila said the ship was aground on a reef off the northern tip of Cebu and in a "critical condition."

"We picked up the SOS this morning. The radio operator on the ship said the seas were huge and threatening to capsize the ship," he said.

"The last contact we had with him said the ship was aground. He did not say anything about abandoning it."

12 Believed On Boat Overturned In Ocean

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Coast Guard cutter hunted near San Simeon, Calif., today for an overturned boat that may have had 12 persons aboard.

A Coast Guard pilot, before darkness, sighted a boat 12 miles off Point Pinos Blancas in the Pacific Ocean and the cutter Lamar raced southward from Monterey.

The Coronado, a 46-foot boat, reported by radio Saturday that it was having engine trouble about 10 to 15 miles southwest of Monterey. That would put it some 55 miles from the pilot's sighting.

Coast Guard search and rescue headquarters in San Francisco did not know the owner or the home port of the Coronado.

Proposes Compromise

Mansfield Urges NATO Force Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield proposed today that the United States withdraw all but a token force of U. S. troops from Europe as part of the realignment of North Atlantic Treaty Organization defenses.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, said in an interview he hopes the Johnson administration will recognize the change in status in Europe and seek some compromise with President Charles de Gaulle in France's scheduled exit July 1 from NATO.

Out of such negotiations, the Montana senator said, could come a sizable reduction in the six American divisions and supporting forces now in Europe.

"In view of the economic rehabilitation of Western Europe and the reduced threat of Russian aggression, I believe it is time for us to insist that the European nations themselves take on the primary military and financial responsibilities for their defense," he said.

In another development, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said he expects the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to hold public hearings soon on U. S. policies in Europe.

Church, who recently completed a two-week tour of Europe, said Sunday on the NBC television-radio program "Meet the Press," these policies need updating. He also suggested that a meeting between President Johnson and De Gaulle would be "very useful."

Regardless, Church said, the United States must cement the allegiance of the 14 NATO members besides France.

Washington discussions on NATO step up this week with Britain's minister of European and NATO affairs, George Thomson, due to see Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other high officials today and Tuesday.

Belgium's Foreign Minister Pierre Harmel is due here at midweek.

U. S. strategists were reported seeking stronger ties and unity among the 14 NATO members who will remain if France withdraws in advance of the NATO ministerial meeting to be held in Brussels June 6-8.

The United States reportedly has made three moves toward this unity:

City's Garage Seen Unsafe By Fire Chief

Van Dyne's Order Condemns Street Department Barn

The two-story brick building on Lisbon St., now used as a garage for street department equipment, has been condemned by Fire Chief Alfred Van Dyne.

Van Dyne said he turned over letters listing the reasons for the condemnation to Safety Service Director Robert E. Vorey and W. M. Laughlin, street department superintendent.

Condemnation signs have been posted on the building, formerly the West End fire station, Van Dyne said.

The chief said the action was taken for the safety of department employees and equipment, and pointed out the Ohio Revised Code authorizes municipal fire chiefs to enforce the provisions of the code regarding fire hazards.

Van Dyne said the roof of the building is rotten "and leaks like a sieve;" plaster is falling from the ceilings on both the first and second floors, making working conditions dangerous, and the electric wiring is "very bad."

The chief said lights have blown out when water leaking through the roof has hit bare wires, and added that electrical sparks have "danced" across the ceilings.

Ohio Dragged In Drowning At Wellsburg

WELLSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Dragging operations were resumed along the Ohio River south of here today for a Carrollton, Ohio, man who apparently drowned after a Sunday boating mishap.

Police said Robert W. Gotschall, 27, fell from a motorboat while on a pleasure ride with his family and friends and was swept away by the swift current.

Firemen, police and deputy sheriffs from several Ohio River communities searched the river until dark Sunday without success.

Police said Mrs. Gotschall told them her husband — a custodian for the Carrollton County School System — was trying to raise the outboard motor into the boat when he fell overboard about 3 p.m.

Paul Scaggs, 17, of Wellsburg witnessed the scene from a river bank and tried to rescue Gotschall. But Scaggs said the man was too far away and the current too swift.

Move Caught Washington By Surprise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration, apparently surprised by the Ky regime's new crackdown against Buddhist insurgents, has urged U. S. officials in South Viet Nam "to make every effort" to help South Vietnamese leaders resolve their differences.

Officials said Sunday they did not have advance knowledge of the crackdown and no American units were involved. "There was no prior consultation with American authorities," State Department press officer Marshall Wright reported.

Ky's sudden move against 1st Corps dissidents at Da Nang prompted a near-crisis atmosphere in Washington Sunday as worried administration officials met early in the morning and again a few hours later.

President Johnson called in three of his top advisers, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Saigon Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, for a mid-afternoon meeting. The President then flew to his retreat at Camp David, Md., for an overnight stay.

The United States apparently is adopting a hands-off attitude in the new outbreak. From all indications, military leaders are attempting to keep their troops out of the Da Nang troubles.

The State Department quickly announced Sunday that "no American units are involved and there are no American advisers with the battalions of the South Vietnamese government (troops) that were sent to Da Nang."

Wright, in response to a question, also said U. S. advisers with the South Vietnamese 1st Corps troops generally remained with their units, "most of which are facing the Viet Cong."

But he added that "It is possible that the American advisers have been withdrawn from

Elkton Girl Dies As Auto Crashes

A teen-aged Elkton girl was killed and a Bergholz man was injured critically in two of five

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said she was a passenger in a 1956 sedan which smashed into a concrete bridge abutment while she and the driver — Linda Kay Hostetter, 19, her sister — swatted a bee which had entered the auto.

The car, headed east, veered off the right side of the highway and hit the abutment at 1:38 p.m., officers reported.

Linda Kay Hostetter was in "fair" condition at Salem City Hospital with possible fractures of the ribs, left leg and left arm.

Democrats Are Still Split Over New Ohio Chairman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Democrats fresh from primary contests avoided the platitudinous "Let us now close ranks..." right up to today's state central committee meeting.

although by precedent the gubernatorial candidate is accorded the privilege of picking his own man.

The upshot was that a caucus of the party's nominees for state office, including Reams and Sweeney, was scheduled this morning to precede the central committee organization session.

From the caucus presumably would emerge a proposed chairman for the central committee's stamp of approval.

Reams said he again would have somebody to recommend. Sweeney spoke so loudly against O'Grady Saturday that snatches of his objections could be heard outside the closed doors.

At the heart of the issue appeared to be a rift between the Typical warmth and brightness returned to the Tri-State District over the weekend, vaguely on Saturday but in all its spring glory on Sunday.

Area residents who almost had reconciled themselves to a Scandinavian summer went forth in hundreds Sunday in their autos and many more crowded into parks and picnic areas.

spirited campaign, criss-crossing the state by helicopter and advertising heavily. Shapp predicted he would win by at least 125,000 votes.

The state Democratic organization reportedly has been shaken by the vigor of Shapp's campaign.

The political experts predict a "horse race" but none would go so far as an outright prediction of a Shapp victory.

Such an upset has never occurred to the Democratic state organization in a gubernatorial primary.

Also running for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination is state Rep. Erwin L. Murray, the self-styled "mountain boy" from Cameron County.

Elsewhere on the election scene, all 50 state Senate seats will be up for grabs. Normally only one half would have been contested but legislative reapportionment requires all 50 to be filled.

But overriding the entire primary picture is the death of Alessandrini, a close friend of Scranton. The peppery attorney general was en route to a political appearance when the light plane crashed. Alessandrini's wife was killed in the same accident.

All of the gubernatorial candidates expressed their shock and sorrow. Shafer and Shapp sharply curtailed their final week's activities.

But the campaign continued. The Shafer people issued an appeal urging the nomination of Alessandrini.

Scranton said Sunday that a "great need" remains for those things represented by the candidacy of Alessandrini.

Blair F. Gunther, Allegheny County commissioner and the other Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, called on the GOP organization to immediately name the man to replace Alessandrini should he be nominated.

The two Democratic candidates for lieutenant governor are Leonard C. Staisey, blind state Senate colleague of Casey on the organization ticket; and James R. Kelley, a Greensburg lawyer running with Shapp.

Commerce Secretary John K. Tabor, the endorsed candidate, is contesting with J. Warren Keel of Philadelphia for the Republican nomination for secretary of internal affairs.

The incumbent secretary, Miss Genevieve Blatt, endorsed by the Democratic organization, is unopposed for renomination.

Even the judicial contests in this primary—normally a placid affair—developed a political hassle that went all the way to the State Supreme Court.

The appellate judges ruled against the cross-filing on the Democratic ballot of the Democratic candidates, Mrs. Juanita Kidd Stout of Philadelphia and Clinton Budd Palmer of Easton. They are candidates for Superior Court.

The Republicans successfully cross-filed on the Democratic ballots as they are permitted to do only for judicial offices. The Republican candidates are incumbents G. Harold Watkins of Ashland, Schuylkill County, and Theodore O. Spaulding, Philadelphia.

Steubenville Session Planned On Pollution

State Sen. Danny Johnson of New Philadelphia said today he has arranged a meeting of Ohio Valley residents Thursday at 1:30 p.m. in the Steubenville Council chambers to discuss water and air pollution.

Johnson said he will seek the personal opinions of citizens on the problem as a guide to the State Legislature.

He said the 106th General Assembly authorized the legislative service commission to investigate air and water pollution and file a report and recommendations not later than next Jan. 15.

some 1st Corp units in the vicinity of Da Nang." Wright did not estimate the number of advisers pulled out.

Military sources said all U. S. installations in the Da Nang area had gone on full alert and had reinforced their perimeters.

The sources said the new political outbreak in South Viet Nam could have serious military consequences because it comes in the face of a Communist buildup aimed at a new monsoon offensive.

The sources indicated the gravest possibility is that South Viet Nam's military forces might become tangled in a civil war, opening the door for the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese to launch wide-ranging attacks and make extensive gains.

Sources here acknowledged that current internal troubles are bound to hurt operations against Communist troops in the 1st Corps area, and point out that the pace against the Viet Cong already has slowed down because of the troubles that spilled over into early April.

man's longest orbital walk, and try tricky rendezvous exercises vital to efforts to send men to the moon.

To fly the 70-hour, 40-minute spectacular, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration drew on two well-trained six-footers.

Stafford, 35, a balding, slow-talking native of Oklahoma, is fresh from the pilot's seat of Gemini 6, the hunter craft that rendezvoused with Gemini 7 last December.

Cernan, 32, a Chicago native with rugged features and sandy crew-cut hair, has never taken a space flight. However, he has been handed the world's longest space walk — 2½ hours — during which he'll become a human satellite.

major fight is expected on proposed inclusion of farm workers.

The bill's sponsors say they have enough votes for House passage. The Johnson administration has called for improvements in the minimum wage, without spelling out details.

The Senate, with a relatively quiet week in view, is expected to take up a $5-billion National Aeronautics and Space Administration authorization bill.

Miss Jennie Jones and Mrs. Hilda Edgar.

The uniform committee is comprised of Mrs. Madalyn Mack, chairman, Mrs. Jody Popejoy, Mrs. Dietz, Miss Karen Jones and Mrs. Marge Reed.

A discussion was held on tentative arrangements for the annual show to be held in November. Mrs. Wright was named chairman.

A contribution was allocated for the international "Dolly Householder Fund."

Reports were heard from Miss Blackmore, recording secretary; Mrs. Rose, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Wright, special sessions; and Mrs. Dietz and Miss Norma Jones, committee chairmen.

Preceding the session, the chorus sang for the Crucible Steel Management Club at Ohioview under the direction of Mrs. Beaver.

The next session will be Friday.

Selma Shooting Case Probed By Officers

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Police say that three shots fired from the cover of darkness crashed into a house formerly occupied by Wilson Baker, who is currently deadlocked in an election dispute with Dallas County Sheriff James G. Clark. No one was hurt.

Two of the slugs penetrated into the home, now occupied by a Selma postal employee, Theopolis Lockett, and a third lodged below a glass transom. One of the .22 caliber slugs ricocheted off a wall and landed near Lockett, who was watching television.

Police and FBI agents swarmed around the area Sunday night and continued an investigation today.

Dialing Area's Widened

Midland Phones Switched Over

Employees of the Pennsylvania Bell Telephone Co. are shown displaying the method of disconnecting the old facility and connecting the new at the Midland office Saturday afternoon.

connected to it that run up the switchboard and close the circuit, cutting operations at the old office.

In the right photo, Roland Chapman of Rochester, James Fitzgerald of Beaver, Jack Brandt of Greensburg and Grimm, pull on rip cords that will connect the circuit for the new office.

The men followed the same procedure Sunday at 3:01 a.m. to complete the switch-over which provided a larger local calling area for the Midland - Ohioview and Hookstown customers. In a final test of the new facility, Mayor Eli G. Corak of Midland and Mayor Stephen Suchanec of Industry made the first telephone calls on the first "touch tone" telephone in Beaver County.

Corak called across country to an old friend and former resident of Midland, Al Keser of Culver, Calif. Suchanec talked to his son, Dr. Richard Suchanec of Newark, Del.

Campaign Urged To Erase Work Health Hazards

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A federal health official urged labor, industry and government today to team up to eliminate health hazards at places where people work.

Sixty-five million Americans work at places that have no health services, said Dr. Murray C. Brown, chief of the U. S. Public Health Services Division of Occupational Health.

"Today it is eminently clear that there exists an opportunity for a partnership between labor, industry and government—a chance to mount a strong tripartite program, stimulated by federal leadership and directed toward the elimination of all health hazards at the work site," he declared.

Dr. Brown made the remarks in a speech prepared for delivery at the opening of the American Industrial Hygiene Conference.

He added, "With our present knowledge, there is no reason why a worker should pay with his life or health for the privilege of having a job. What we have to do is bring industrial hygiene services which can control hazards to the work environment to all plants large and small."

New Member Signed As Radio Club Meets

Charles Bostwick of Lisbon was accepted as a new member during a meeting of the Penova Citizens Band Radio Club Sunday night at the headquarters on Route 45.

Twenty-six attended. A movie on defense was screened. A public auction will be held Saturday, June 11, at 2 p.m. Anyone with articles to donate can contact a board member.

Richard Green, president, presided. The next meeting is May 29.

Bethel Group Sets Election

The WSCS of Bethel Methodist Church of Greene Township scheduled an election of officers, a father and son luncheon and a strawberry festival at a meeting last week at the church.

The new officers will be elected at the next meeting June 14 at 8 p.m. at the church with Mrs. John Haney appointed hostess.

The father and son banquet will be held in the church social room May 27. Reservations for the dinner may be made by contacting Mrs. Lloyd Beal of Greene Township.

The annual strawberry festival will be in June, with a date to be set at the next meeting. Mrs. Paul Staley led devotions at the session.

Mrs. Clyde Whitehill presided. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Roland Armstrong and Mrs. Virginia Carr.

Investor's guide!

A Cadillac remains unmistakably a Cadillac regardless of year. New or previously-owned, its impressive size, its remarkable beauty and its continuity of styling have all contributed to Cadillac's reputation as the finest of all luxury car investments.

Every day, more and more wise car buyers are discovering that they can get more performance, luxury, distinction and pride of ownership in a previously-owned Cadillac than in many new cars of lesser stature. For example, Cadillac engineering has always been so advanced that many features of Cadillacs several years old are just now finding their way into new cars of other makes. And Cadillac has for years provided as standard equipment automatic transmission, power steering, power brakes, power windows and power seats on most models, automatic cornering lights and many other conveniences that even now cost extra on most new cars. Consider, too, the extra reassurance of motoring in an automobile of Cadillac's impressive size and stature. Before you buy your next car, be sure to look for your authorized Cadillac dealer's used car sign. It is the best possible landmark for a wide, attractively priced selection of well cared for, previously-owned Cadillac cars.

Clear Away All Doubts

Ohio's new state school superintendent, Martin W. Essex, will take over E. E. Holt's duties July 1. The retiring superintendent and his successor have been in education during a period of unprecedented interest.

The intensity of the interest has caused thousands of young Ohioans who formerly would have terminated their education in high school to go to college. It has had the further effect of making college graduates want to go to graduate school.

This has imposed a heavy burden on the state for the support of its public universities. The newly appointed school superintendent declares that post-high school education should be within the "reach and right" of every young man and woman who has the capacity for additional study or additional skill.

No one will disagree with this, but one of the jobs the new superintendent might tackle is to clear away all doubts about public financial responsibility for higher education.

There is no compulsion in higher education. It is a voluntary choice. But the state cannot be expected to provide higher education facilities for everybody, willy-nilly. Applicants for higher education must have capacity. They must have motivation, and they must be subject to close selection.

They must pay their own way insofar as it is possible for them and their families to meet realistic costs. It makes no sense for Ohioans to be asked to subsidize higher education for children of well-to-do families. Applicants and their families should be subject to the same financial screening practiced by private colleges and universities before granting assistance.

Public assistance is for the deserving needy in education, as in everything else financed with public funds.

More Like It

Things took on a rosier look for tri-state residents over the weekend as spring appeared to have arrived for real.

The cares of the day somehow seem less burdensome when things are right with the weather. And though the freeze already has taken its toll, the district's farmers are enjoying a new lease on life, with the growing season finally appearing to have fallen into a normal pattern.

If further evidence was needed as to the welcome change weather-wise, shirt-sleeved fans were out in full force at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh Sunday as the Pirates battled the Dodgers.

Grim Warning

Local and district boating enthusiasts have received their first grim warning of the season of the toll that results from carelessness.

An Ohio man drowned in the river near Wellsburg over the weekend when he fell overboard while working with the motor on his boat.

Boating provides hours of pleasure during the summer months, but it also holds its share of danger. Extreme care is important from the very beginning. One false step can mean trouble.

Driver License Photos

A suggestion for a law requiring photographs on driver licenses deserves serious consideration by the Highway Safety Study Committee of the Ohio Legislative Service Commission when it meets at the Statehouse May 23.

The recommendation has been made by Donald D. Cook, director of the Department of Liquor Control, in a letter to State Sen. Ed Garrihan, chairman of the Highway Study Committee.

Ohio law now requires a photograph of the holder on chauffeur licenses, California and Michigan require photos on all driver licenses.

New Student Image At Denison

Action that may create a new image of the American student was taken last week at Denison University when the Student Senate and Faculty Council dealt a death blow to a 60-year-old secret campus group called the "Wingless Angels."

The group, which has worn hoods on various occasions, was organized originally to perpetrate harmless campus pranks. However, last month a prank was perpetrated that was not considered harmless.

When a band of hooded students made a raid on a girls' dormitory causing minor damage, such a storm of anger swept the Granville campus that both the Student Senate and Faculty Council adopted a set of rigid new rules that would make future offenders face expulsion.

The rules state that individuals who conceal their identities; invade women's residence halls after hours; assist in such invasions; engage in harassment of other students, the staff or security officers, or engage in malicious destruction of property will be dismissed from the university.

If the example set by the Denison students and faculty becomes a fad, the day of college high-jinks will be over. Higher education will be just that.

A Crafty Ky?

WASHINGTON — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky is a flashy, ambitious man, and apparently crafty. It's the crafty bit which seems to have taken President Johnson's administration by surprise over the weekend.

Ky just did what he backed away from doing a few weeks ago. He sent his troops into South Viet Nam's northern city of Da Nang to take over. The reason seems clear: the chance for success looks better now than then.

Early in 1965 Ky gagged when offered the job of youth and sports minister in Viet Nam's government. He was commander of the air force and he didn't want to give up that job for the other. He was assured he could have both.

SO HE ACCEPTED the ministerial job, too, and about six months later hit the jackpot when the generals took over the government and he was made premier.

This might have seemed — and in the end may turn out that way — like just one more government in a long line. Nine governments had come and gone since President Ngo Dinh Diem was thrown out and killed in 1963.

But Ky, as Sunday's events showed, wasn't the type to give up easily even though at the time he may have seemed to accept adversity rather meekly.

His turmoil began last March when he forced a showdown with a rival, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh Thi, who was thrown out of the military junta and out of command of the northern provinces where he had close ties with the Buddhists.

Monks and students in Da Nang in the north, and elsewhere, demanded the reinstatement of Thi. They demonstrated against Ky's government.

Under this pressure Ky promised a constitutional convention and elections to create a civilian government. But he finally got fed up with the rumpus and flew 4,000 troops to Da Nang's air base April 4.

THEN HE DECIDED not to use them against the city. The rumpus gradually quieted down; at last it lost its intensity. In view of what happened Sunday Ky must have figured April 4 was not a good time to use troops.

But it was only a temporary yielding. Drawing up a constitution with a constitutional assembly and preparing for the elections will take time. And recently Ky announced he would stay in office another year.

Further, he said, if the people elected a neutralist or Communist government the army would fight. The Buddhists muttered but this time there was no vast outpouring in protest.

And Sunday Ky went through with what he had stopped short of doing before. He airlifted military forces to Da Nang. After a fight they took the city.

Nature Shows Way

Modern technology has never surpassed Mother Nature as an engineer.

Eons before human engineers appeared, animals developed powered flight, underwater propulsion systems, electric circuitry, sonar and countless other techniques.

Today's engineers are turning to the animal world seeking solutions to many of their problems. A new science called bionics specializes in discovering nature's techniques and applying them to human technology.

A notable example is the modern subsonic aircraft. Its wings preserve the characteristics of the highly efficient bird's wing, with maximum curvature on the upper surface near the front.

Human divers scored a triumph in 1960 when the bathyscaphe Trieste descended to a record depth of 35,800 feet in the Pacific Ocean. But shrimp, fish and other animals were there to welcome the mechanical monster. The animals moved freely under a pressure that would crush an ordinary submarine.

Man began to make serious use of electricity less than two centuries ago, but animals have used it from time immemorial to send messages from one part of the body to another. Plants also generate electricity. A growing bean plant sends out currents to its bottom-most roots where cells are most actively dividing.

This 'n That

Many people are confused by the word "proof" indicating the strength of a whisky. The figure for the proof is double the alcoholic content. Thus, 100 proof whisky is 50 per cent alcohol.

At one time in history, the four kings in a deck of playing cards were supposed to represent Charlemagne, David, Alexander and Julius Caesar.

If all the water of all the oceans in the world were frozen into a solid ball, this ball would be 850 miles in diameter.

Our Own Hallucinations!

Lessons From Alabama Vote

By Raymond Moley

Many people in New York and Washington, including some commentators, seem to be puzzled over what happened in Alabama in the primary on May 3. This may be due to the old rule that when people are fighting for a cause they believe to be good and holy they are likely to be blind to the facts and deaf to the voice of common sense. This is especially true of zealous civil rights workers. But the outcome could be foreseen long before the primary. I was in the South for nearly three weeks in April, and the results were clearly visible at that time.

When I questioned intelligent observers in Birmingham they said (a) that the Wallaces would win big, (b) that Martin Luther King was politically stupid when he called for a solid bloc vote from the Negroes, (c) that since this would consolidate the white vote, and since there are many more whites, the Negro gains would be negligible, (d) that Attorney General Richmond Flowers by appealing to the Negro voters directly would be soundly beaten (e) that the Wallace vote would be increased by many people who wanted to avoid a run-off primary with Flowers, (f) that practically all Negroes who were running for local and county offices would lose and (g) that the Negro vote, while large, would be scattered. That is what happened.

WHAT SO MANY PEOPLE in the North fail to realize is that the lines between the races are more sharply drawn in the northern cities than in the South.

In political life and in education there has been strict segregation in the South, and discrimination also has prevailed in such things as housing and the more intimate relations of social life. In every-day economic affairs, however, there has been mingling of the races for many years.

The races of necessity see and know a great deal of each other. They work on the same farms and building projects and in the same factories. They buy from and sell to each other.

Thus, when a white man has held office in a local community or county he has made innumerable friends among Negroes by doing favors or by generally fair treatment or good public service.

NOW THAT THE NEGRO has the vote he is much more likely to give him his support than to vote for a Negro whom he does not know well or whom he believes to be incompetent to hold office.

Certainly he is more likely to respond to these human considerations than to respond to the demands of civil rights workers and vote according to his race. It has always been that way in politics, even when no differences in race have been involved.

One of the remarkable lessons in this recent primary was the relatively poor showing of Sen. John J. Sparkman. While he was opposed only by three relatively little-known opponents, he ran behind their combined vote in the big counties of Jefferson and Montgomery — 40 per cent to their 60.

Sparkman's Republican opponent in the election will be John Grenier who as state chairman did a remarkable job of building up the GOP in the state. With Rep. James D. Martin as a candidate for governor against Mrs. George Wallace, there thus will be a strong statewide Republican ticket in November.

GRENIER PLANS to say nothing about race relations except to deplore bloc voting by either race. Republican emphasis will be on the economic development of the state and opposition to the domestic policies of the Democratic administration in Washington.

Sparkman has been voting consistently for all the Johnson measures, including the rent subsidy plan. That, as well as many of the other domestic innovations of the Johnson administration, is unpopular in the state.

In Alabama and elsewhere in the South the great civil rights revolution has spent its force. The many laws have been passed by Congress and are being enforced by federal authority as planned. Resistance has slowly faded out.

The Negro has his rights and now must long time. In the interim the question is economic opportunities for all, which can only come to Negroes and whites alike by the economic learn how to exercise them. This will take a development of the states of the South.

Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Miss Ruth Wilson, president of the Junior class at East Liverpool High School, and her escort, Glenn Fitzgerald, led the grand march during the annual Junior-Senior Prom at the high school gymnasium.

Robert Thomas McNichol of Salineville, a student at Mt. Union College, received recognition in the 1936 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Mrs. Lucille Jackson was elected president of the Federated Negro Women's Club during a district meeting at Lee's Chapel of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in Wells-ville.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Miss Shirley Stackhouse was crowned queen during the annual junior-senior prom of Chester High School.

"Chick" Strobel bowled 640 to win the singles crown during the first annual East Liverpool Bowling Association tournament.

The East Liverpool Junior Chamber of Commerce, founded in 1939, was named the outstanding chapter in the state in communities under 30,000 population during the annual Ohio State Junior Chamber of Commerce convention in Toledo.

TEN YEARS AGO — Mrs. Ann D. Smith resigned as full-time executive secretary of the Child Counseling Center.

The Rev. Ray Banks, new pastor of the La-Croft Church of the Nazarene, was introduced to members of the congregation.

Card Game

By David Lawrence

Questionnaire Invades Privacy

Racial consciousness, which has long been deplored, is likely to be encouraged unwittingly by a new move just taken by the federal government. A card has been issued to all government employees to set up a racial classification, though for some unexplained reason it lists only certain races and nationalities. "A minority group status questionnaire" is being handed to every employee with the requirement that it be filled out with his surname, date of birth and Social Security number. The card reads as follows:

David Lawrence

To employ:
1. Please read the statement on the other side of this card if you have not already done so.
2. Check the one block below which best describes your race or national origin:

- ( ) American Indian
- ( ) Negro
- ( ) Oriental
- ( ) Spanish-American
- ( ) None of these (check this block if you are other than listed above.)

3. After you have checked your answer, return this card according to the instructions given by your supervisor."

ON THE REVERSE SIDE of the questionnaire is the following message:

To employ:

The federal government and your employer want to be sure that every individual whatever his race or national origin gets fair and equal treatment. To do this, we need to know how many minority group employees there are, what kinds of jobs they hold, what grade level their jobs are, and other things that will show whether or not there is discrimination. Minority group records are being set up for this purpose.

"You are asked to help by checking the block on the other side of this card which describes your race or national origin. Your answer will be kept confidential and will not be used against you in any way."

Many government employees are astounded by the nature of the questionnaire, and some of them are asking why there is no reference to other racial groups, such as Polish-American, Greek-American, Italian-American, or to any religion.

Since the questionnaire ignores these classifications, it gives the impression that a few have been mentioned as window-dressing and that the real purpose is to obtain information as to the number of Negroes and whites actually employed.

Certainly it's not assumed that, in the offices of those agencies of the government where there is a predominance of Negroes, any employees will be discharged to make room for whites, but some of the latter are concerned nevertheless that they may be removed to permit more Negroes to get jobs.

USE OF THE QUESTIONNAIRE among government employees could mean that before long the government would issue the same questionnaire to every private business, from which a tabulation could be made to determine whether the proper percentage of Negroes is being employed according to government concepts.

The attempt to reach a "racial balance" through some quota system disregards, of course, whether an employee holds his job by reason of merit or because of discriminatory practices. The emphasis now apparently is on whether there is discrimination because of race or color. The same reasoning can be applied by the government to deal with any religious discrimination that may exist.

No information has been made available by any government source as to what standards will be used in making the final judgment as to whether "every individual whatever his race or national origin gets fair and equal treatment." Would it be based on population percentages alone?

THE TRUTH IS that, inside the government, there are some crusading officials who believe that "equal employment opportunity" cannot be achieved except by compelling a "racial balance."

The new questionnaire is being studied by the Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights, of which Sen. Sam Ervin Jr., D-NC is chairman. Concern is expressed that thus far no action has been taken, either through the courts or through legislation, to block the use of the questionnaire which now has been distributed to hundreds of thousands of government employees, together with instructions to their supervisors to obtain the answers.

Berry Box

Box turtles may live for a century, but some never see 40 because of a passion for strawberries.

In strawberry time, the turtles gorge on fresh fruit, often becoming so fat they cannot completely close their shells. This leaves them sitting turtles for predators.

Even a slender box turtle is no match for its most dangerous enemy — the automobile. Every year thousands of the slow-moving animals are killed as they plod across highways.

The box turtle's normal pace is one mile in nine and a half hours. Some may spurt faster for very short distances. A naturalist saw box turtles energetically chasing grasshoppers, lunging and snapping at their sprightly prey.

Most box turtles show little inclination to roam. They seldom venture beyond a 250-yard radius, though an adventurous few may extend their territory to a half-mile or so. One marked box turtle was found after 35 years within 150 yards of the place he was first caught.

problem now as "more psychological than military."

"We can maintain our presence in Europe with only a token force," he said. "One division should be enough. If there should be any attack, one division would guarantee our response to it just as well as six."

Mansfield agreed with Church that at this point the United States does not seem to be showing any inclination to negotiate with De Gaulle over his plans to leave NATO.

"We don't seem to be trying very hard to get together with him," Mansfield said.

The Democratic senators got some support Sunday from former GOP Vice President Richard M. Nixon who told a Decatur, Ill., news conference that any talks on NATO should include De Gaulle.

"You cannot have an Atlantic alliance without France," Nixon declared. He added that the French president "doesn't happen to be all wrong about NATO."

Nixon said the Republican party "wants a complete reevaluation" of NATO and will insist that "the new set up be based on the new power balance."

Sources said one reason U. S. planners are aiming for agreed positions on NATO reforms in advance of next month's meeting would be to prevent Paris from tossing monkey wrenches into the reshaping plans.

Although there has been some sentiment for keeping France out of Brussels, Washington soundings indicate the other allies are not ready for such a sharp break.

But advance unity among the 14, it is reasoned here, would limit any significant decision-making at Brussels to a rubber stamping of what the 14 already had decided.

Despite its offer of support for a German officer to become commander of the allied forces in central Europe, U. S. officials are known to believe that NATO's supreme allied commander in Europe should continue to be, as in the past, an American who is also in charge of U. S. forces in Europe.

Presumably, U. S. officials discussed this and other NATO matters with West German Defense Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel, who completed talks here Saturday.

tended Beaver Local Public School as a freshman until last week, was born at East Palestine Dec. 20, 1949. She had attended school at Lisbon until the family moved into the Beaver Local area.

BESIDES her parents, she is survived by five other sisters, Debbie Rae Hostetter, Bonnie Lou Hostetter, Becky Ann Hostetter and Paula Gayle Hostetter, at home, and Mrs. Diane Corfee of Lisbon R.D. 4; two brothers, Samuel Hostetter and Daniel Hostetter at home; her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Cora Kennedy of East Palestine, and her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hostetter of East Palestine.

Services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 at the VanDyke Funeral Home in East Palestine with her father, an evangelist, in charge. Burial will be in Jackman Cemetery at Fredericktown.

Friends may call Tuesday night at the funeral home.

The death was the 10th highway fatality in Columbiana County this year, compared to 11 at this time in 1965.

FIVE WERE injured in two-car collision on Route 39 about 1 1/2 miles north of Wellsville Saturday at 6:30 p.m., the patrol reported.

William Boyle, 47, of Salineville R.D. 1, headed north, attempted to pass a car operated by Lillian Shinn, 16, of Wellsville R.D. 1 as she made a left turn into a private drive.

Both drivers were injured, along with three passengers in the girl's car.

Lillian Shinn suffered bruises of the head and lower left leg; Oletta Shinn, 49, received bruises of the nose; Dorothy Shinn, 42, was treated for a possible back injury, and Karen Shinn, 6, who was thrown from the auto by the impact, suffered a bruised forehead and abrasions of the arms and hands.

There was heavy damage to the left rear of the 1963 sedan driven by the girl, while Boyle's 1963 sedan had moderate damage to the front.

FLOYD ANGUS of the Y & O. Rd. was treated at City Hospital for bruises of the left elbow after his car was sideswiped by another vehicle on the Smiths Ferry - Calcutta Rd. yesterday afternoon.

Officers said a 1960 station wagon driven by Wayne Smith, 31, of Salineville R.D. 1 was driving left of center at a hillcrest and sideswiped the oncoming convertible of Angus, 52, causing severe damage to the left side of his car. There was moderate damage to the station wagon.

Smith was charged with driving left of center.

Harry Finn, 67, of Bergholz was in "critical" condition today at Ohio Valley Hospital at Steubenville with injuries suffered yesterday when a car in which he was a passenger struck a guardrail along Route 644 north of Millport.

HE WAS in a car operated by Helen M. Finn, 43, of Bergholz who was charged with driving a car with defective brakes, officers said.

She was headed north when the 1966 sedan went off the right side of the road and into guardrails.

The driver along with Finn and William Charles Finn, 7, were taken to Salem Central Clinic, then transferred to the Steubenville hospital.

Carl Joe King, 15, of Faulk Ave. escaped serious injury when his 1966 cycle veered off Route 267 a half mile north of the city limits then careened back across the road into the side of a car Saturday afternoon at 5:25.

The patrol said he was headed south when the cycle went out of control on a curve and hit the northbound car operated by Rebecca E. Allen, 49, of N. Surrey Rd.

The youth was charged with driving without a license.

congressman and U. S. Sen. Stephen M. Young, a fellow Cleveland.

O'Grady, formerly of Cleveland, was a state commerce director under former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, and worked in the 1964 campaign to return Young to the senate.

Young this year supported Mark McElroy against Sweeney for the attorney general nomination. Sweeney made that race after turning aside pleas he run for governor.

Sweeney complained to the county chairman that O'Grady, currently living in Columbus as Ohio chairman for U.S. Savings Bond sales, was too closely identified with Young and DiSalle.

The congressman added he did not want Howard Metzbaum of Cleveland, Young's campaign manager, dominating state party headquarters or Cleveland industrialist Cyrus Eaton "financing the party."

Conflict Should Get Bigger, Arnett Tells Ohio AP Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Viet Nam conflict is likely to get bigger, but Communist China is unlikely to intervene in it, a prize-winning reporter of that war feels.

Peter Arnett, Associated Press correspondent who won the Pulitzer Prize for his war coverage, told The Associated Press Society of Ohio Saturday night that "this year will see an increase in the tempo of action."

But he said there seems to be no reason at this time for Red China to intervene directly in the fighting. He said the probably will be doubled during the year.

Guns are the keys to power in Viet Nam, Arnett said, and they are wielded by South Viet Nam's military leaders and the Viet Cong. Buddhists, he said, represent a sort of "third force" in Viet Nam politics.

But he said politically active Buddhists represent only about 5 per cent of the population.

At the business session, The Associated Press editors awarded news and photography prizes, elected new officers and chose Athens for the fall meeting Oct. 15-16.

Hal Schellkopf of the Columbus Dispatch was named president to succeed Harry Yockey of the Dover Reporter.

Robert Reider of the Port Clinton News moved from trustee to vice president and Jack Osler of the Dayton News was chosen new trustee.

Fall Through Skylight Injures Local Boy, 10

A 10-year-old youngster escaped serious injury Saturday afternoon when he fell through a skylight covering a basement entrance.

Peter Traversa, son of Mrs. Elaine Traversa, 409 Jackson St., was detained at City Hospital until yesterday after being admitted for X-rays.

Police said the youngster was walking on a skylight above the entrance to the consumer credit department of the First National Bank when he fell through. The youngster was taken to the hospital by Patrolman Paul A. Burton Jr.

'Bone Up On Science, Math,' Those Who Take Test Warn

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the 400,000 students who took the national draft deferment examination have a tip for those taking the test later: bone up on your science and math.

Those are the subjects they said were found most frequently during the exam given Saturday at 1,200 colleges and universities in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Panama Canal Zone.

The results will be forwarded to local draft boards to help them determine whether the students can stay in school or be drafted into the armed services.

Another 600,000 youths will take the test May 21, June 3 and June 24.

"The examination would have been a cinch for fellows at MIT or any other technical school," said Harvey Stein, 23, a student at Hastings Law School in San Francisco. "But I'm afraid it wasn't for me. I was a history major."

Supt. Myers Attends Session At Columbus

School Supt. Lowell Myers of Wellsville was attending a meeting in Columbus today on technical education.

The meeting was called by Gov. James Rhodes. Industrialists, businessmen and educators from all areas of Ohio were invited.

In addition to a talk by the governor, Dr. John Millelt, chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents, and James Furman, executive director of the board, will speak on Ohio's future role in technical education.

Sweeney Pushes For Probe Into Land Sale Plan

CLEVELAND (AP)—An Ohio congressman has asked for a congressional and Justice Department probe of a state offer to buy land for a freeway interchange.

U. S. Rep. Robert E. Sweeney said Sunday he will ask Rep. John C. Klucznski, D-Ill., chairman of the House Roads Subcommittee, to come to Ohio and investigate a state offer of $750,000 to buy 25 acres of vacant land in suburban Brook Park for an Interstate 71 interchange.

Sweeney said the state was ready to pay $30,000 an acre for land purchased in the last 10 years for $1,500 to $1,700 an acre. Ohio Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe has ordered the deal stopped.

Our little airline no longer is.

We can still remember the days when we would say, "Fly Lake Central Airlines," and people would ask, "Lake who?"

They're gone, those days.

Today we'll fly you at least one hundred miles an hour faster than we've ever flown you before. On new French prop-jet Nordes, and Convairs converted to prop-jets.

Next year we'll fly you twice as fast on our all-jet jets.

Officers Nab Jail Escapee

A 19-year-old Wellsville youth who escaped from Wellsville Jail more than five months ago was taken into custody Sunday night by East Liverpool police.

Police Chief John Hephner of Wellsville said Charles Hall was driving a Pennsylvania car he had been employed to deliver to Pittsburgh from Florida.

The car was full of valuable merchandise, he said. Some of the merchandise had been pawned by Hall, the chief added.

Hephner said one of his patrolmen was sent to Steubenville this morning in an attempt to recover two sets of silverware which Hall admitted pawning for $10. One set was valued at $900 and the other at $1,450.

Hall also dumped some of the merchandise that was in the car, he said. He left a set of golf clubs and some dresses on a dump near the Wellsville reservoir, the chief said.

Chief Hephner said anyone who picked up the articles should contact police immediately. The merchandise is considered stolen, he commented.

Hall was picked up after police in the area received word that he was supposed to deliver a car to Pittsburgh, but had failed to appear.

East Liverpool Lt. C. E. (Bill) Tice remembered having seen Hall in the area and he and another officer made the arrest.

Hall was being held today at the Columbiana County Jail at Lisbon on a charge of escaping from custody. He had been picked up in Wellsville in December on a detainer from the Canton police.

Authorities said he had stolen a motorbike from an agency there.

False Alarms Call Firemen

Chester volunteer firemen responded to two false alarms Saturday and Sunday.

Shortly before 9 Saturday night, the department was summoned to a Dunn St. residence by neighbors who saw a fire which turned out to be trash burning in a back yard.

About 11 Sunday morning, the siren on fireman George Cowey's car, parked near City Hall, short-circuited and screamed away.

Firemen working in the station thought it was the siren atop the nearby Faulk Brothers building and were driving the truck out the doorway when they discovered the cause.

On Saturday's run, the firemen reported difficulty in reaching the site of the supposed fire by traffic failing to yield the right-of-way and clogging the scene. They warned that arrests will be made in such cases in the future.

THE NEGLECTED MEN

Today, when the society pages report a wedding, it is only the bride's costume which deserves comment — never the groom's. But it wasn't always this way! In past centuries it was the man who caused a flurry with his jewels, satins and laces!

When Henry VIII married his third wife, Anne of Cleves, the sleeves of his purple velvet coat were lined with gold and buttoned with diamonds, rubies and oriental pearls. Emeralds and other precious stones embellished his girdle, sword, and cap. One historical comment said that "few men ever saw the like."

In more recent times, such as the 1800's male fashions changed and pockets were placed in coats. This started a vogue for pocket watches, and then all manner of "fobs" which dangled on the end of the watch chain over the waistcoat or vest. The fraternity key is an outgrowth of this fashion. Also popular at that time was the stick pin, a forerunner of today's tie tack. In fact, many modern men have made tie tacks out of antique stick pins which belonged to a grandfather or great uncle.

If a bride today is looking for an appropriate gift for her betrothed, do seriously consider something in the fine jewelry line. A tie tack set with his birthstone, a set of studs (more formal dress is being worn now), or a fine pair of cuff links would be most appropriate. We will be happy to advise you on proper masculine jewelry in keeping with current trends. Men should shine a little too!

Kent Group Wait Meeting On Education

Officials of Kent State University Academic Centers at East Liverpool and Salem have indicated they plan to attend Friday's meeting of the Ohio Board of Regents at Columbus at which the county's higher education proposals will be taken under consideration.

Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, chairman of the board of trustees of the proposed Community College, has asked Salem and East Liverpool backers of Kent State University centers, to stay away from the Regents meeting "and let us get a charter."

The Columbiana Community College board and the Mahoning County board have both rejected a proposal from the Regents to create a joint community college district to serve both counties.

Representatives of the advisory boards of the Kent centers at East Liverpool and Salem today indicated they plan to attend the Friday meeting.

A spokesman pointed out the Regents have given no official answer yet to a proposed permanent Kent program for the county.

Another said, "There is certainly more than one college or technical training program for Columbiana County than the one offered by the Community College proponents."

The board of regents apparently have turned down any idea of a community college just for Columbiana County, the spokesman said, and the great interest throughout the county in the growing program of the Kent Centers underscores the potential of the university branches.

Gosney said he has sent a letter to the Regents, appealing for favorable action on the Community College charter plan.

Gosney told the state agency that Bryce Kendall, an attorney and a member of the Salem Board of Education, remarked at a meeting Friday night that the state "does not have any funds for Columbiana County, anyway."

Gosney said the Board of Trustees feels that funds have been allocated for a county education plan and that the Board of Regents "can prove it by granting us a charter."

"We feel this is the week of decision for Columbiana County—either we will get a charter for a Community College or we will have nothing for the next 50 years," Gosney commented.

The state agency had proposed in April that Columbiana County unite with Mahoning County in a community college plan. If this suggestion is adopted, Columbiana County "would become just a 'service area' for the Mahoning County College and Youngstown University," Gosney said.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I do a good cleaning job on enameled woodwork?

A.—This cleans nicely with a mixture consisting of one cup of kerosene, one cup of vinegar, and a half-cup of water, all shaken up in a bottle, applied to the woodwork with a soft cloth, then followed with a dry-cloth polishing.

Q.—How can I keep my diamonds sparkling?

A.—In the first place, to keep a diamond sparkling, it must be kept scrupulously clean, so that the light striking each facet breaks down into rainbow colors. If the diamond is dirty and gummed up with soap, you might as well be wearing glass. A diamond that is worn every day needs a special cleaning at least once a month—without fail.

Q.—How can I repair small holes in linoleum?

A.—Try filling these small holes with a mixture of finely chopped cork and liquid glue, and after letting this dry thoroughly, give it a coat of clear varnish.

Auto Victim's Rites Planned

Services will be held today for Thomas Blake, 45, of 217 Washington St., Newell, who was killed early Saturday when struck by an auto as he crossed Route 19 about 12 miles south of Waynesburg, Pa., near the Pennsylvania - West Virginia border.

Pennsylvania State Police said Mr. Blake was struck by an auto operated by Craig Stephenson, 16, of Waynesburg R. D. 3.

Officers said Mr. Blake and Lloyd Plum, also of Newell, had just parked their truck at a nearby service station and were crossing the highway when Mr. Blake was struck by the auto.

The rites will be held in a Cameron funeral home.

The survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Blake, with whom he made his home, two brothers, Sam Blake and Clem Blake, and a sister, Mrs. Raymond Masters of near New Cumberland.

Mrs. Wambaugh Chosen For Higher BPW Office

Mrs. Ethel Lynn Wambaugh of East Liverpool was elevated to first vice president during the 46th annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs which closed Sunday at Cleveland.

Formerly the state organization's second vice president, she had served in 1964-65 as third vice president. She was personal development chairman for two years and also served two years as director of District 8. As first vice president of the Ohio Federation, she also will serve as program chairman, coordinating the program of the state organization and the local clubs and directing the activities of state standing committee chairmen. She will preside at the Ohio BPW's program planning conference June 4-5 at Columbus.

A charter member of the East Liverpool club, she was awarded its only honorary life membership in 1959. She served four years as its president and held most other offices and committee memberships. She has just concluded serving as public relations chairman.

Mrs. William Cowan of Xenia was named president, succeeding Mrs. Jeanne C. Squire of Berea. The other new officers are:

Mrs. William Campbell of Gallipolis, second vice president; Mrs. William Carter of Mansfield, third vice president; Miss Ruth Warnock of Cleveland, recording secretary; Mrs. William Westgate of Cuyahoga

Drag Race Kills Coraopolis Youth

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP) — Police say drag racing by fans at the Cumberland National Championship Sports Car Races resulted in the death of a Pennsylvania college student and the injury of five other persons.

Francis Sass, 19, of Coraopolis in Allegheny County was killed when the sports car in which he was riding went off the end of a runway Sunday at the Cumberland Municipal Airport and fell down a 200-foot cliff overlooking the Potomac River. He attended Edinboro State College.

Police said the car was driven by John Eggleston, 21, of Youngsville, Route 1, in Warren County, also a student at Edinboro.

Eggleston and four Cumberland youths injured in a similar accident a few minutes later were all listed in satisfactory condition at Cumberland Memorial Hospital.

The accidents happened during some impromptu drag racing on a runway that was not part of the regular racing, police said.

DO YOU TAKE VITAMINS AND STILL FEEL TIRED?

If you take vitamins and still feel tired, your trouble may be due to iron-poor blood. Vitamins alone can't build up iron-poor blood. But GERITOL can! Because just two GERITOL tablets, or two tablespoons of liquid GERITOL, contain 7 vitamins plus twice the iron in a pound of calf's liver.

In only one day GERITOL-iron is in your bloodstream carrying strength and energy to every part of your body. Check with your doctor, and if you've been feeling tired because of iron-poor blood, take GERITOL, liquid or tablets, every day. You'll feel stronger fast in just 7 days or money back from GERITOL.

Penalty Given To 2 Drivers

Two motorists were fined and one forfeited a bond at traffic hearings today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. Carl G. Ludwig, 24, of 310½ Main St., Wellsville, was fined $25 and costs on a reckless driving charge. Ludwig was cited after his auto struck a utility pole early Saturday on St. Clair Ave. near Midway Ln. Gene Edgar Smith, 420 College St., drew a fine of $5 and costs for crashing a traffic signal at 6th and Market Sts. early Saturday morning.

Gerald Ray Ogden, 410-A Jefferson St., Newell, forfeited a $17.50 bond for operating a motorcycle without a muffler. He was cited Sunday night at St. Clair Ave. and Broadway, police said.

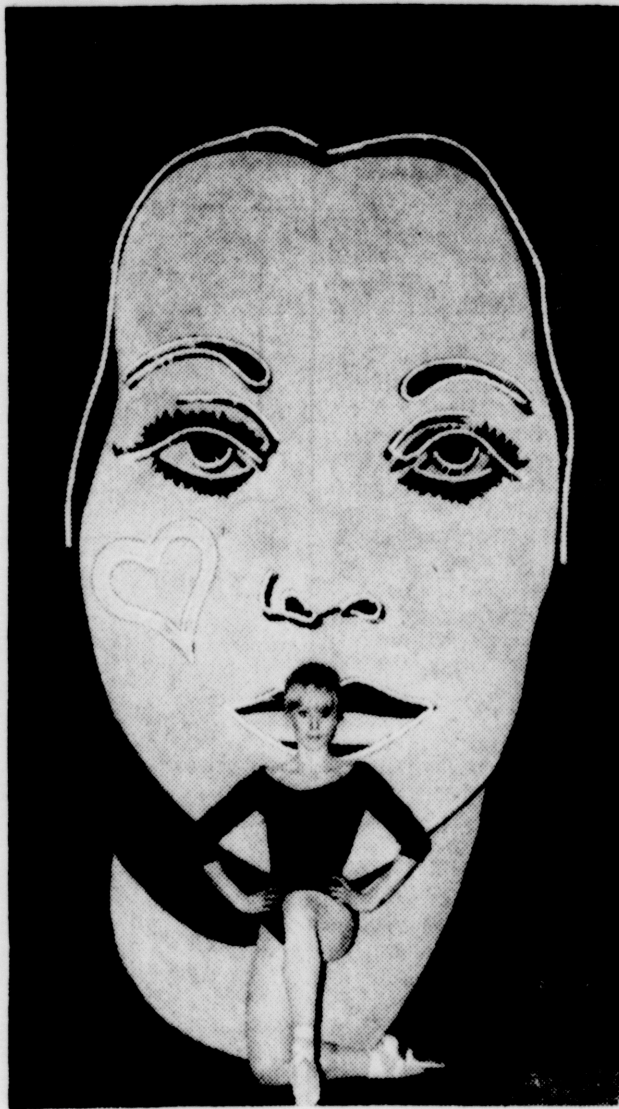

Because the complainant was unable to produce a witness, a charge against Ray Wallace, 22, of 830 Pennsylvania Ave. of leaving the scene of an accident was dismissed.

The charge had been filed by Mrs. Anna Mae Warrick, 911 Dresden Ave., who alleged that Wallace struck her parked sedan May 1 on Dresden Ave., and drove away without furnishing the information required by law.

Crew Begins Trash Pickup

A city crew today launched the annual spring cleanup, with trucks collecting refuse in the North Side - Maplewood-Beechwood district.

The campaign will continue through Friday, May 27, with trucks following the incinerator department's regular daily trash schedules.

Householders were reminded to place refuse at the curb or property line the night before a scheduled pickup, as trucks begin their rounds each morning at 7.

Two open dump trucks of the street department are being used to supplement the incinerator department's "packer body" refuse vehicles.

The drive will shift into the West End district Tuesday, with collections scheduled on these streets:

Fairview St., Division St., Hague Ave., Shadyside Ave., Church St., Denver St., Edwards Ave., Park Pl., Jethro, W. 8th St., Ridgeway Ave., Fenton St., Moore St., Claiborne St., May St., Florence St., John St., Burford St., Alton St. and California Hollow.

As Week Opens

Police Mark Memorial Day

Deputy Sheriff Howard Gray, left, and Patrolman Orin Smith are shown placing a wreath Sunday afternoon in front of City Hall before the granite marker honoring district men and women who served in the nation's wars.

The placing of the wreath was part of a ceremony marking the annual observance of Police Officers Memorial Day and opening National Police Week. A proclamation was read by Mayor George Willshaw in recognition of the event.

The Fraternal Order of Police Lodge, of which Smith is past president, was in charge of the ceremony. Gray is past president of Quaker City FOP Lodge 88 of Salem.

About 20 attended the rite yesterday.

It was a tribute to law enforcement officers who have lost their lives in line of duty.

Prayer was given by the Rev. Charles Menough, pastor of the Calvary Methodist Church, and Patrolman Ronald Brookes, chaplain of the FOP. Ritualistic work was in charge of Patrolman Paul Blevins, president of the lodge.

Frank Weaver represented the FOPA lodge. Other official guests included Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, P. K. Calhoun, secretary of the Civil Service Commission, Councilman Floyd Murray and Auditor Lawrence Zollinger. Also attending were Capt. Robert Pyle and Lt. Kenneth Mooney and Patrolman J. W. VanHorne of the State Highway Patrol post in Lisbon.

The local Police Week program, held annually in May, will continue through next Saturday.

A dance Saturday night at the Elks Lodge ballroom also marked the beginning of the observance. The Esquires furnished music for the dance, which was arranged jointly by the FOP and its civilian affiliate, FOP Associates.

Window displays in downtown stores will form another part of the week's program. The FOP committee is comprised of Patrolmen Paul A. Burson Jr., William A. Devon, L. E. Richard, Brookes and Howard Frontz.

District Competition Here

4 Win 'Superior' Ratings In School Music Contest

Four East Liverpool students received "superior" ratings in flute; Janet Winters of St. Al-the Junior High School competition of the District 8 Southern Section of the Ohio Music Education Association Saturday at Westgate Junior High.

More than 700 students, representing 23 schools in Eastern Ohio, participated in 375 events.

Local soloists receiving the top rating were Dianne Goodman of Westgate, flute; Carolyn Seraly of Westgate, clarinet; Glenn Cunningham of East Junior, clarinet, and Everett Stoddard of Westgate, oboe. The flute trio from Westgate also received a "superior."

"Excellent" ratings were given to Martha Persohn of Westgate, flute; Janet Winters of St. Al-the Junior High School, oboe; Grace Hamilton of East Junior, flute. The flute duet from East Junior was judged "very good."

Soloists and ensembles were scheduled throughout the day with bands performing in the afternoon.

One choir participated. It was Stanton Local Junior High which was judged "excellent."

"Superior" ratings for Class B bands went to Dillonvale, West Elementary, Smithfield and Toronto. "Excellent" ratings for Class B bands went to Mt. Pleasant and Mingo. Lisbon received a "very good" rating in Class B.

Carrollton received a "superior" rating for Class A bands while "excellent" ratings went to Jefferson Union and Westgate. A "fair" rating was given Beaver Local.

Vincent L. Maola, band director at East Liverpool High, was district chairman. The district president is John H. Shaffer of Minerva.

Students from the ELHS band and choir and the parents of the Band and Orchestra group assisted in the arrangements.

Local Firemen Called On 3 Weekend Alarms

City firemen were called on three minor alarms over the weekend.

A passerby's error sent firemen to the home of John McCort, 839 Pennsylvania Ave., early Sunday night. Firemen said the passerby saw smoke coming from a stack at the side of the frame dwelling and believed the house was on fire.

They went to the home of J. David Wilkinson, 1429 Trentvale St., at 5:45 p. m. Saturday when grease in a french fryer ignited. Firemen were called to W. 7th and Dresden Ave. at 2:20 p. m. yesterday when a short circuit started a fire in a compact auto operated by Frank Fluno, 525 Market St.

Goes To Canal Zone

Pughtown School Signup Arranged

Registration for children entering the Pughtown School next fall will be held Thursday afternoon from 1 to 2:30, it has been announced by R. O. Stevens, principal.

Parents are requested to bring the child's birth certificate, and immunization and vaccination records from a doctor or the health office, Stevens said. The children must be 6 before next Nov. 1 to be registered, he added.

Following registration, parents and children will meet primary teachers and visit a class in session.

Refreshments will be served by the Parent - Teacher Association in the activity room.

Mrs. Ernest Freeland is PTA pre-school chairman.

Giant panda bears, despite their gentle appearance, don't flourish in captivity. Only eight are known to live in zoos scattered around the globe — four in Communist China, one in England, one in Russia and two in Korea.

OLD STORY. Beer may be king in Germany, but wine is appreciated, too. This rathskeller in Bremen's town hall is Germany's oldest wine tavern.

Hillcrest School Unit Names New Officers

The new officers for the Wellsville Hillcrest - Fairview Parent - Teacher Association are Vincent DeFilippo, president; Tom Jones, vice president; Mrs. Maxine Netti, secretary, and Mrs. Mary Ann Potts, treasurer.

The election was held Thursday night. Mrs. Frances Jack, first grade teacher who is retiring, was honored.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to comment on your advice to the college girl who wanted an open-dorm policy so campus people could deal more realistically with sex. Several of us read it during lunch and we broke up. It was hilarious.

This is not the 17th century. Grandma. Fear of pregnancy no longer prevents the modern female from enjoying sex on the campus — or anywhere else. Birth control pills are readily available and a girl can always get an abortionist who will help her out for a few hundred dollars.

If the newspapers must print an advice column, they should give the job to someone who is living in the 20th century. College students want an open-dorm policy and if we raise enough hell we will get what we want eventually. So why don't you crawl back into your cave, Ann.

Dear Geronimo: You don't specify whether you are male or female but your cavalier attitude toward pregnancy leaves no doubt. I've never yet heard of a male who became sterile, crippled or died at the hands of an abortionist.

I've received thousands of letters on this subject and this may come as a jolt to you, Buddy-Boy, but the vast majority of college kids who wrote said something like this: "That flea-brained dame who would like shack-up privileges in the dorms is not speaking for me!"

One of the best letters was from a 17-year-old and here it is.

Wise Beyond Years

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 17-year-old girl who plans to enter a university in the fall. Naturally, I was interested in the letter from the college sophomore who wanted complete sexual freedom and felt that the school should sanction it.

She stated her point of view and now I would like to state mine. I'm not condemning the girl. I have no right to condemn anyone. In fact, the girl made at least one statement I would endorse.

She is correct when she says some attitudes and rules about sex are unrealistic and hypocritical. Many adults who wish to impose rigid rules for sexual conduct on college students have a vastly different set of rules for themselves.

On the other hand, her letter implied a depressing lack of respect for sex. This was evident in one question on the form she circulated through her dorm: "Are you a make-out or a hold-out?" I would have replied, "None of your business."

I'm not sure of all my feelings about sex but I'm sure of this: Sex and love should not be separated. Love without sex would be lifeless. And sex without love would be cheap and empty.

Too many people have destroyed a beautiful thing by jumping in and out of beds with anyone who is available. How can they possibly have respect for sex — even inside marriage? It has no significance, no purpose, no beauty. It is just something to do. It's like using a diamond brooch to open a can of beans. —OAK PARK, ILL.

Dear Oak Park: You are wise far beyond your years. When you are graduated from college, if you want a good job, get in touch with me.

Confidentially

TO NEEDING AN EXPLANATION: A "Hollywood invitation" is a casual suggestion that you drop by sometime — carefully avoiding a specified time. It's called a "Hollywood invitation" because Tinseland is reputed to have more phonies per square mile than any other city in the world. I don't buy the bit, however. Insincerity is not a matter of geography.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Blame Lies With The Adults, President Of PTA Declares

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers said today that adults must blame themselves for giving adolescents too much power and not enough responsibility.

"It is we who have led many of them to believe — or pretend — that everything in life is or should be fun," Jennelle Moorhead said in her prepared keynote address to the PTA's 70th annual convention.

"It is we who have invited our young people to dwell for seven years or so in an unreal and hence unwholesome world of their own, a world that too often has little relation to the adult world.

"Parents and teachers, in our effort to be permissive, have too often been submissive."

Mrs. Moorhead, of Eugene, Ore., told the convention that there is another end of the spectrum.

"We have thousands of able, responsible youngsters being pressured to make high grades so that they can qualify for college, and to maintain those grades in order to stay there," she said.

"I would be the last person to decry superior academic achievement, but I would be remiss not to cry out against the exaggerated importance today attached to grades as grades, as distinguished from the true purpose of education."

About 2,000 delegates representing 6,000 PTA's throughout the country and in American schools overseas are attending the four-day meeting which began Sunday with a vespers service.

Mrs. Moorhead said the association has "reached a turning point in its history. There are critical internal issues to be resolved, and we are called upon to make crucial decisions. Upon this convention rests the responsibility to assure the PTA a confident, splendid future."

West Virginia Mails

License Plate Forms

CHARLESTON (AP) — In the next day or two West Virginians will start receiving renewal applications for motor vehicles license plates.

Motor Vehicles Commissioner James K. Thomas said applications started through the mails today. He said the applications returned by mail could be processed by the department in one day.

The deadline for renewing auto license plates is June 30. The truck and non-auto plates expire Aug. 1.

Lapsed After '24

BRIDGTON, Maine (AP) — After 41 year of driving without a license, the law caught up with Andrew Karak, 67. Karak, who told the judge he never bothered to renew his 1924 permit, was fined $35 in District Court.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Folks: A wonderful way to use leftover cold roast beef or pork the next day is to slice it extremely thin with your sharpest knife.

Reheat that thinned down (water) leftover gravy in a pan. As it comes to a rolling boil and has thickened a bit, drop the thin slices of meat into it, turn out the fire and put the lid on the pan.

By the time you have made some toast, the meat will have heated clear through. Place globs of meat on top of the toast, and smother it with the leftover gravy. Lush, hot roast beef sandwiches.

If you are trying to stretch it, add a chopped hard boiled egg to the gravy. Different, too.

All you need is a salad and a vegetable to complete a wonderful supper.

When I cook a roast on a weekend, I usually wait a day or so before having it again.

A cold roast can be sliced paper thin beautifully.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Make a nylon net pompon scrubber (any size), and drop it on the floor when mopping.

Kick it where there is a soiled spot, step on it and twist, spin or twirl, and see how the soil disappears!

The pompon will bounce up and be ready for the next spot!

Sure beats getting down on your knees.

MRS. J.H.S.

DEAR HELOISE: Some time ago, someone said she used iron-on tape on the back of material before sewing on buttons.

I find that a strip of the one-inch tape can be sewed inside the facing when making a dress, especially those that button down the front.

The buttons almost never come off, but if they do they won't take part of the material with them!

MARY K. SCHAEFFER.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know that an empty spool makes an excellent bubble-blower for the kiddies?

Just dip in warm water and then rub it on a bar of wet soap.

Keeps them amused for hours.

MARGE.

DEAR HELOISE: For ladies wearing needle-thin heels while driving (many serious accidents have been caused by these heels catching in the floor mats or carpeting), go to your hardware store and buy little rubber tips used for small-sized chair legs—they come in all sizes and shapes.

Wear them on your thin heels while driving.

They also will protect your heels if you have to walk in gravel or over rough ground.

I keep a pair in my purse and a pair in our car.

DORIS H. CUMMINGS.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

DEAR HELOISE: One thing I have learned is that when you visit your in-laws and an argument starts, just look at them, lift up your shoulders, smile and say, "I don't want to hear it", and then walk out.

This way, you're not ever blamed for anything.

IN-LAW.

DEAR HELOISE: Before pinning heavy jewelry on dresses or sweaters of light woolen or nylon material, I put a quilted cotton square underneath the garment, hold it in place with my fingers, and then pin my jewelry to it. It keeps the jewelry from hanging loosely or tearing the garment.

Works fine!

JEWELRY LOVER.

DEAR HELOISE: Please tell your readers not to throw or give away their baby's receiving blankets when they are no longer needed.

With seven in our family, we never have enough bath towels. There is nothing softer or more absorbent than receiving blankets. I use them for the smaller children's baths.

The older children and I find them wonderful for drying our hair.

READER.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

Girl To Describe Uruguay Visit At Hancock Meeting

Judy Myers, West Virginia 4-H Club member who visited Uruguay several months ago under the International Farm Youth Exchange program, will relate her experiences Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the lunchroom at New Cumberland Junior High School.

Miss Myers lived with farm families during her stay, which was made possible in part by dimes contributed by 4-H members.

The meeting will be open to the public. Mrs. Ruth McPherson, Hancock County 4-H agent, said.

WHEN YOUR DOCTOR SAYS

"DRINK MORE WATER"

... it's time to get the Mountain Valley Water habit.

This pure, spring-sweet water from the great health resort region of Hot Springs, Arkansas, is America's favorite health water.

Doctors in a recent hospital test found that when patients drank Mountain Valley Water, instead of faucet water, 66% increased body waste elimination and had greater urinary output.

It's a good health practice to drink this naturally pure spring water. Order a supply now.

Masons Hold Negley Event

Mothers and daughters and past matrons and patrons were honored during a coverdish dinner and meeting at the Negley Masonic Temple Thursday night.

Gifts were presented Mrs. Franky Henderson, oldest mother; Mrs. Winnie Pethel, youngest, and Mrs. Wilda Knutson, the mother who traveled the farthest. Mrs. Knutson resides in Seattle, Wash.

A tribute to mothers was given by Mrs. Jean Thomas.

Entertainment was provided by John Calhoun of Wellsville, a vocalist, with Mrs. Dorothy Davis piano accompanist.

Fourteen past matrons and patrons were honored and received gifts.

Conductress June Elliott and Associate Conductress Margaret

McDaniels introduced the matrons and patrons.

Gifts were presented by Associate Matron Evelyn Copestick and Associate Patron Frank Copestick on behalf of worthy matron Harriet Enrickin and Worthy Patron Homer Bryan.

Fifty five attended, with guests present from Wellsville, Newell, Columbiana and East Palestine.

Plywood Finish

It Depends On The Type

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

It may not be socially proper to answer a question with a question, but it surely is the only way to handle the situation when someone asks how to finish plywood.

An accurate reply to that question is impossible without first asking and getting an answer to: "What kind of plywood?"

With most plywood — birch, pine, walnut, etc. — the manner of finishing is the same as it is for solid lumber of the same species of wood.

That is, plywood with a birch facing is finished just as you would finish a piece of solid birch, generally with a clear coating that enhances but does not hide the grain.

THE STORY is completely different with fir plywood, the most common and the least expensive. It's the workhorse of the plywood line, sturdy and suitable for nearly all projects.

Most lumber yards which deal with the public rather than the professional trade keep large quantities of it in stock. It's far and away the biggest seller, although some of the hardwood plywoods have been gaining in popularity in recent years.

Anyway, fir plywood requires special treatment because it has an unruly grain which will show through most ordinary finishes — if not at the time of the finishing, then a few months later.

To counteract this annoying tendency, the plywood first must be given a priming or sealing coat.

A special sealer especially formulated for use on fir plywood comes in two types — white and clear. The white is for use when the final coat is to be paint.

The clear is for use when the final coat is to be varnish, lacquer, shellac or any transparent finish. Experience has taught us that two coats of the sealer are more likely to tame that wild grain. A light sanding of the sealer is recommended to remove its gloss and enable the top to cling better.

MANY OTHER effects can be obtained. You can have lots of fun with a few pieces of scrap fir plywood and a little imagination. Try finishing each a different way and you'll be surprised how often you come up with something striking. Here's one you might try: Using a clear resin sealer, mix with a little oil color and about 25 per cent thinner. Brush the mixture on the plywood, then rub into the pores of the wood with a clean, lintless cloth. Follow by wiping — with another clean cloth — in the direction of the grain.

Put on two coats of clear finish. If everything has been done correctly, the result will be a smooth, natural finish except for color tints along the grain.

Mailbox Has A 'Week'; Does Yours Shape Up?

If all of the mailmen in the U.S. were to judge a contest to find the "Best Dressed Mailbox" in each of their territories, how would your mailbox rate?

Well, if you can't say right off that it would win first prize from Mr. Zip himself, now is the time to put it in first-class condition.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association at Washington reminds us that the week of May 16-21 has been designated "Mailbox Improvement Week" by the Post Office Department. According to the department, there are 17,000,000 mailboxes in the U.S.—10,000,000 on rural routes and 7,000,000 on city residential curb-line delivery locations. If these 17 million were allowed to rust and corrode, left standing only to collect our mail, imagine the threat they would present to our nation's beautification programs.

ACTUALLY, it doesn't require a lot of work to keep your mailbox in tip-top shape. If the mailbox is properly installed and finished, it should withstand any kind of weather condition — short of hurricanes, tornadoes and floods — and still retain its original appearance.

Mailboxes are made of various materials. Galvanized iron, tin and steel may all rust if they are not adequately protected against moisture. Aluminum will not rust, but will corrode. Wood that is not fully protected against the weather can rot away.

Repainting your mailbox does not begin with the painting. It starts with the proper preparation of surfaces. The final result can be only as good as its foundation. The surfaces on which the new paint is to be applied must be sound, smooth, dry, and — if they are metal — rust-free.

All loose dust should be removed with a dusting brush. All rust on metal surfaces should be completely eliminated with the aid of a wire brush and steel wool. Remove any loose, peeling, or blistering paint, and smooth out the rough edges with sandpaper. If the surface is extremely smooth and glossy, better adhesion will be obtained by roughening it with steel wool or sandpaper.

Spot prime all bare surfaces with a wood or metal primer to block the entrance of moisture and, in the case of metal, prevent further rusting. Outside house primer or enamel undercoater should be used on wood — metallic zinc paint or aluminum paint are very satisfactory for metal surfaces. For a transparent, weather-resistant coating on your wooden mailbox use spar varnish.

ON METAL and wooden mailboxes nearly any exterior paints or enamels will give a satisfactory finish coat. For adequate resistance, at least two finish coats are required to insure that all gaps, brush marks, and other weak points are covered. Aluminum paints are often used for the finish coat on metals because of their high resistance to moisture. Where a colorful coating is desired, a sturdy exterior enamel is your best bet.

For the mailbox post, there are wood preservatives available which retard the rotting of wood that must be placed below the ground. Regular house paint or trim-and-trellis paint may be used for the finish coat.

When choosing a color for your mailbox, remember that it should blend in well with the overall color scheme of your home and its natural surroundings.

Now you're ready to add your own personal touches. You can even spray paint the family name and house number on the box with the aid of stencils.

With the finishing touches completed, you can be assured that your "Best Dressed Mailbox" will remain in first class condition for many years to come.

Deck, Screen Do Trick

A one-story house built slightly below street level is at a disadvantage. Not only does it tend to look squat, but the downward view fully exposes windows and front yard to scrutiny from passersby.

In addition, a traditional entrance treatment is awkward, even hazardous, involving steps down to a yard-level walk, then back up to the entry porch and front door.

Yet, these many liabilities can be turned to assets at the hands of a skillful designer.

eight inch apart to allow free drainage of rain water.

PRIVACY for some house windows can be provided by wrapping a good, tall fence around one half of the yard, bordering the elevated walk.

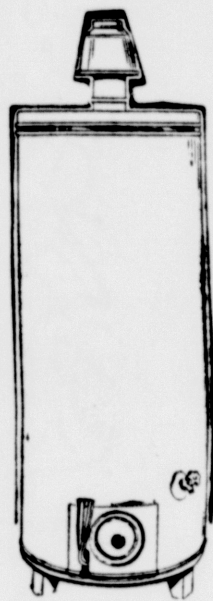

A solid board fence does the best job and will look graceful built with resawn cedar 1-by-4s. The resawn wood provides the texture needed for a solid pattern, and four-inch wide boards give a crisp, architectural look. With a few soft plantings at the fence base and an open cap, any possibility of a harsh, wall-like effect is eliminated.

The solid pattern can be varied, however, along the walkway by alternating solid panels and open panels designed with 2-by-4s turned edge out and spaced two or three inches apart.

Although the decked walkway should be left to weather, the fence will look best stained to match the house siding.

Biplane Loses Engine But Lands Smoothly

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A 1929 biplane lost its engine in flight Sunday but glided to a smooth landing on Tampa Bay. The pilot escaped with a back injury.

Authorities said the pilot, Henry Palmer, St. Petersburg, was able to control the vintage plane and execute a smooth landing at an ideal spot — on the shallow part of the bay.

The emergency landing inflicted no serious damage on the plane. The engine was found in the bay.

Tornadoes Hit Parts Of U.S.

By The Associated Press
Thunderstorms lined up across the nation's midsection today as turbulent weather continued from Southern Illinois to Arkansas.

Tornadoes, damaging hail and lightning struck many spots from Kansas to North Carolina over the weekend.

Hardest hit by the tornadoes was Kansas City, Kan., where at least three persons were injured Sunday night and moderate damage was sustained.

Tornadoes also raked portions of Oklahoma as violent wind and hail storms lashed into Arkansas and Missouri.

At Kansas City a $500,000 fire started by lightning destroyed a barn and killed 53 show and breeding horses at the Cedar Creek Stables.

Blackwell, Okla., and Lake City, Ark., were pelted by large hailstones. Hailstorms also struck Springfield, Mo., and near Jonesboro, Ark.

To the east, heavy rain and hail damaged crops extensively in western parts of North and South Carolina Saturday.

A large peach crop at Spartanburg, S.C., was severely damaged and several farmers reported they would have no crop to speak of. Some reported hail stones piled as high as five inches in western North Carolina.

Heavy rains accompanied many of the storms with almost an inch falling in just 18 minutes at Cairo, Ill., Sunday night. More than two inches fell at Cape Girardeau, Mo., in a six-hour period.

Indians Split With Orioles To Retain 2-Game Margin

Bernie Allen's Two-Run Double Proves Key Hit For Twins

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians have a starting pitcher for every day of the week. One of them, however, is strictly for the Birds.

Lee Stange, an odd man in Cleveland's powerful pitching rotation, made his first start of the season Sunday and clipped the Baltimore Orioles' wings for the 11th time in 13 lifetime decisions as the Indians salvaged the second game of a doubleheader 2-1.

The Orioles took the 13-inning opener 1-0, ending a four-game skid, before Stange's complete-game victory gave Cleveland a 3-1 edge in the weekend series and reestablished the Indians' two-game American League lead.

Although blessed with a staff of seven qualified starters at the start of the season, Manager Birdie Tebbets has been able to give only four of them steady work. The brilliance of Sam McDowell, Sonny Siebert, Luis Tiant and Gary Bell—top men on the totem pole—kept Stange, Jack Kralick and John O'Donoghue in cold storage.

Stange, in fact, had pitched a total of two-thirds of an inning in three relief appearances—two against Baltimore—before Tebbets called on him Sunday.

The 29-year-old righthander proved as effective as ever against the Orioles, setting them down in one hour and 51 minutes—second fastest game in the majors this year. He scattered eight hits, walked none and struck out four.

Elsewhere Sunday, the New York Yankees swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 5-2 and 3-1; Detroit outscored Chicago 8-6; Minnesota slugged Washington 6-2 and Boston snapped a six-game losing string by trimming California 6-3 after the Angels took the first game of the doubleheader 5-4.

Stange outpitched previously unbeaten Dave McNally, now 3-1, in the nightcap at Cleveland. The Indians snapped a 1-1 tie in the sixth inning when Dick Howser singled, sped to third on Leon Wagner's single and

Trade Looking Better As Pappas Wins 3rd

By MURRAY CHASS Associated Press Sports Writer

Milt Pappas spotted Frank Robinson 400 points, but he's not worried. He figures he has until 1968 to catch up.

Actually, at his present pace, Pappas won't need that much time to pull even with Robinson.

The Cincinnati pitcher sliced another chunk off the Baltimore slugger's lead Sunday, gaining his third straight complete-game victory as the Reds whipped Chicago 9-2.

Pappas and Robinson were

Pirates Lose To LA, Slip Into 4th

the primary players in the winter deal between the Reds and the Orioles, and everyone conceded the better of the trade to Baltimore when Robinson was hitting .400 before Pappas even had won a game for Cincinnati.

But now the 27-year-old righthander has won three games in 10 days, and he's helped pull the Reds to within three games of .500 after they had been eight games under.

Pappas, however, isn't interested in discussing the merits of the trade.

"It'll take three years before anyone can decide what's what in a deal like this," he said Sunday.

But he added:

"The Reds got me to pitch, and I can do that. What happens with Robinson and the Orioles, I have no concern."

Elsewhere in the National League, New York whipped San Francisco 6-1. Los Angeles trimmed Pittsburgh 3-1. Philadelphia stopped Houston 5-2, and St. Louis downed Atlanta 5-3.

Pappas received solid support from Pete Rose, who rapped three hits, including a three-run double in the fourth inning. Deron Johnson, Don Pavletich and Art Shamsky contributed homers to the Reds' attack while Ron Santo connected for the Cubs.

Rod Gardner stopped San Francisco on four hits, one of them Jim Hart's homer. Ron Hunt triggered two New York rallies, singling and scoring in the first and singling at the start of a four-run outburst in the third.

Don Sutton and Phil Regan combined for a six-hitter over Pittsburgh. John Roseboro and Maury Wills each tripled in a run, and Wills scored on Willie Davis' single.

Philadelphia defeated Houston as Harvey Kuenn singled in the sixth inning and scored the tying run, then singled across the lead run in the seventh. Cookie Rojas added a two-run double in the eighth, insuring Larry Jackson's first victory as a Phillie.

The Cardinals scored two runs in the third inning with the help of Joe Torre's error and went on to defeat Atlanta. Torre dropped Frank Bolling's throw at the plate, allowing Orlando Cepeda to score and Tim McCarver to reach third from where he came 2.

In Record Speed Andretti Wins Pole Spot, But Death Mars 500 Trial

By DALE BURGESS Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The golden anniversary 500-mile sweepstakes May 30 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway shaped up today as a potential match race between American champion Mario Andretti and Scotland's world road-racing champion Jimmy Clark.

And a tremendous jump in speeds in opening time trials Saturday and Sunday, with one fatal crash and five other spectacular mishaps, underlined the hazards of the 56-year-old track where 57 have died.

Andretti, Italian-born 1965 champion of the U.S. Auto Club's big car circuit, won the pole position Saturday at a one lap over 162. But he will record speed of 165.899 miles per hour in a year-old Brabham-Brawn Ford.

Clark qualified a new Lotus-Ford for the No. 2 starting spot at 164.144 m.p.h. The Scot won the $600,000 race from the same position last year, passing pole winner A. J. Foyt in the first turn. Foyt led later but a broken transmission finally put him out of the race.

Chuck Rodee, 38, of Indianapolis, a noted midget car driver who had started in two 500s, was killed in one of four crashes Saturday.

Foyt, who was involved in one of Saturday's accidents, came back Sunday in a new Lotus-Ford, and paced the day's five qualifiers at 161.355 m.p.h. with one lap over 162. But he will have to start in the seventh of the three-car rows because 18 Saturday qualifiers will hole their positions.

Ten starting spots were left to be filled in the final trials next Saturday and Sunday. The 23 qualified cars averaged 160.575 against 156.052 for the entire field last year.

Drivers who beat Foyt's 1965 record of 161.233 for the 10-mile run against the clock were Andretti, Clark, George Snider of Fresno, Calif., 162.521 in a Lotus-Ford; former winner Parnelli Jones, Palos Verdes, Calif., in a Shrike Offenhauser, 162.484; and Lloyd Ruby, Wichita Falls, Tex., 162.455 in a Gurney-Ford Eagle.

Dan Gurney, whose All American Racers Corp. of Santa Ana, Calif., built six of the Eagles, put one of them in the line-up Sunday at 160.499 after having clutch trouble Saturday.

Gurney was the fourth of the top-ranking Grand Prix racers to make the field. He stood No. 4 in the world last year. Also in the line-up beside champion Clark are Jackie Stewart, Dunbarton, Scotland, No. 3, and Graham Hill, London, No. 4, both rookies in the 500.

Other rookies who qualified, but at speeds that may not keep them in the line-up, were Gary Congdon, Garden Grove, Calif., 158.688, and Art Pollard, Medford, Ore., 157.985. After all of the qualification runs, the 33 fastest cars will make up the starting field.

Rodger Ward of Indianapolis, two-time winner of the 500, made the field at 159.468 Saturday after engine trouble last year interrupted his string of 14 straight starts. He will team with Hill and Stewart on the team of millionaire John McCom Jr., Houston, Tex.

Also in the line-up were Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Calif., who has started the last 11 Indianapolis races, at 159.384, and Don Branson, Champaign, Ill., a seven-time starter, at 160.385.

Loy Qualifies In Mile, Set For Regional Meet

East Liverpool's Bill Loy finished third in the mile run at the District track meet at Belaire Saturday thus qualifying him for the Regional meet Saturday at Kent State University.

Loy, a junior, turned in a 4:41.7 clocking in the mile event which was won in record time by Paul Gibson of New Philadelphia who was timed in 4:28 for the new District mark.

The Potters Greg Manning scored a point by finishing fifth in the two mile run by turning in his best time of 10:26.4. Only the top three in each event qualify for the Regional meet.

Stebenville was the team winner with 48½ points while Zanesville was second with 44. Twenty-one teams were entered in the meet.

Four records were set and one tied at the Eastern District meet.

Brown's Surgery Success, May Play In 4-6 Weeks

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Now, it's a matter of normal healing," Cleveland Indians physician Vic Ippolito said Sunday after an operation on bones around the eyes of shortstop Larry Brown.

Dr. Ippolito said the operation was "a complete success — it worked out beautifully." The Tribe doctor also said he expects Brown back in the lineup before the end of the season, possibly in four to six weeks.

Brown was injured May 4 in New York when he collided with Leon Wagner as both chased a fly ball in Yankee Stadium. The infielder was operated on Sunday to elevate bones on both sides of his face and to repair part of the cheekbones.

Dr. Ippolito said "The ridges below the eyeballs on both sides were caved in. The surgery realigned those bones."

Surgery was performed by Dr. Clifford Kiehn, a plastic surgeon in an hour-long opera-

Fans Short On Fingernails After Tribe-Oriole Series

CLEVELAND (AP) — Memo to Cleveland Indians President Gabe Paul:

Dear Gabe, Suggest you have vendors sell candy shaped like fingernails. Our real nails are shot. Nevers, too. The Baltimore series did it.

Sincerely yours, The fans.

The Baltimore series here was a four-game affair. Each game was decided by one run and two went into extra innings. The Indians took three out of four, including a 2-1 victory in Sunday's nightcap after the Orioles won the opener, 1-0, in the 13th inning.

It has been that way for the Tribe this season. Thirteen of their 24 games have been decided by one run. They hold a 10-3 edge in that department.

The Indians and Orioles have met eight times this season, with a 4-4 split. Five of the eight were by one run and the Tribe has a 3-2 edge.

Last Tuesday, when the Indians were one game out of first place, Manager Birdie Tebbets walked up to Lee Stange and said "Get ready." He meant for the Orioles, and for good reason. Stange had a 10-2 lifetime edge over the Birds.

Now it's 11-2 and the Indians are in first place by two games. The Indians had to scratch to gain a split. They got seven hits off Dave McNally (3-1).

Singles by Del Crandall and Chuck Hinton produced a run in the third. Dick Howser scooted home with the tie-breaker in the sixth on Fred Whitfield's grounder to Luis Aparacio.

Stange (1-0) scattered eight hits in the second game, three by Frank Robinson that included a fourth-inning homer.

Gary Bell received an unofficial unsung hero award for the first game. He shutout the Orioles for 11 innings before giving way to a pinch-runner in the 11th—after he singled.

The Orioles won it on Brooks Robinson's single through the left side, scoring Russ Snyder, who opened with a single off reliever Steve Hargan and moved up on a sacrifice.

"I would like to have won, of course, but I feel pretty good about the way I pitched," said Bell.

John Miller and Stu Miller blanked the Indians for 10 innings and Eddie Watt (3-1) finished the job. The Indians loaded the bases with none out off Stu Miller in the ninth. But Fred Whitfield hit into a quick double play and Max Alvis struck out.

Bell struck out Dave Johnson after the Orioles loaded the bases in the ninth.

Orioles Manager Hank Bauer said he was pleased with his pitching, then summed up his hitting on both teams:

"Our bats are sick, but so are theirs."

Don't Sell Amberoid Short In Preakness, Trainer Says

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't sell Amberoid short when he takes on Kentucky Derby winner Kauay King and perhaps a half-dozen other 3-year-olds in the $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico Saturday.

That was the word from trainer Lucien Laurin Sunday as he supervised the loading of Reginald Webster's son of Count Amber into a van for the trip to the scene of the 13-16-mile middle leg of the Triple Crown.

"I think I had the best horse in the Derby," said Laurin. "He had all kinds of bad luck, including stumbling at the start, and still showed me something."

Amberoid, who qualified for the Triple Crown series with an impressive win in Aqueduct's Wood, wound up seven in the Derby, beaten only four lengths. Laurin added that Bill Boland again will be astride his colt, who likes to run well off the early pace.

Meantime, Mrs. Edward Lasker's Indulto, another slow starter with a tendency to loaf when he gets in front, added interest to the Preakness by edging previously unbeaten Creme dela Creme in the $59,900 Withers mile at Aqueduct last Saturday.

Indulto, with Johnny Rolz slated to ride, likely will be the last of the New York-based horses to arrive at Pimlico. Trainer Max Hirsch said he probably wouldn't ship until late in the week.

Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Advocate, beaten only one-half length in the Derby, and Mrs. H.C. Phipps' Stupendous, just two lengths back in fourth, are due to depart either Tuesday or Wednesday. Then will follow either Exhibitionist or Understanding, both trained by Hirsch Jacobs. Jacobs said he would decide on his representative by the middle of the week.

Exhibitionist was 10th in the Derby while Understanding, a non-Derby starter, was fourth.

Final Round At N. Orleans Finds 2 Tied

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) —

The final round of the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament tees up on a thoroughly soaked course today with Jack Nicklaus and Tony Lema tied for the lead.

The tournament was supposed to wind up Sunday but a downpour swept the Lakewood Country Club course, washing out all scores, drenching the pros and thousands of spectators.

Nicklaus, in addition to having his only comfortable pair of golf shoes soaked, suffered another stroke of ill luck. While driving to the course he was involved in a minor traffic crash.

"It popped my neck," said the 26-year-old Masters champion. "It hurt me a little bit for awhile but seems okay now. I just hope it doesn't stiffen up on me."

Lema and Nicklaus led the pack into the final round with 208 for 54 holes — eight under par over the 3,020-yard, par-72 course. Frank Beard and Bob Goaly were tied at 209.

Locked at 210 were Gardner Dickinson, Billy Casper and Kei Nagle. Arnold Palmer was forced out of the tournament Saturday due to a wrenched back.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

TV Gets Its First Negro Writer

Hal Humphrey

Sunday's "Bonanza" episode was titled "A Dollar's Worth of Trouble" and was a comedy about Hoss Cartwright's being taken in by a fortune teller. It is news-worthy because the script was written by Robert L. Goodwin who happens to be a Negro, and there is nothing rarer than a Negro writing for TV.

Until last November, when Goodwin sold through agent Lil Cumber the first of three scripts to "Bonanza" producer David Dortort, one could say without contradiction that no Negroes were writing for TV.

"IN SEVEN YEARS of buy-says Dortort, 'Bob Goodwin was the first Negro writer to send me anything. It was an outline for a story about a preacher, and it had a lot of good stuff in it. I helped him write the screen play because that is a complicated technique, and it turned into one of our stronger shows this season.'"

A second Goodwin script (this one written on his own) was submitted to Dortort and was on "Bonanza" a few weeks ago. It dealt with a barnstorming prize fighter challenged by Hoss.

"He learned the screen play technique very fast, which is unusual, but even more interesting to me was Bob's choice of material, especially this comedy. There wasn't a protest or civil rights march in any of them," Dortort adds.

THE 39-YEAR-OLD Goodwin is no neophyte to show business. He started as an actor on the stage, then went to movies and TV and later wrote and produced his own TV drama special with Lew Ayres. After an abortive struggle to get it on network TV he practically had to give it away to a local TV channel.

As for so called protest drama, Goodwin says, "I know there is no place for civil rights stories at present, and I'm not sure we need them. When Willie Mays hit that 521th home run, I think he made his own statement, as did Bill Russell when he became coach of the Boston Celtics. What more can one of them say about the Negro than be the best in what they are doing?"

The paucity of Negro TV writers (or movie writers, for that matter) can be laid to an almost total lack of encouragement, Goodwin believes.

MORE THAN a year ago the Writers Guild of America (West) established a Negro Writers Workshop which started out with 25 members, but last January the guild directors felt they had gone as far as they could with such a project.

"It is true that some of our members felt there was no more prejudice against Negro writers than any others," says writer Edmund Morris, who instructed the workshop students. "After all, every writer is looked upon as a natural enemy by most producers," he adds.

Goodwin himself, along with writer Earl Barrett, has inherited the guild's workshop group, now down to seven members, but meeting once a week to learn techniques and pray for a breakthrough.

"We just teach them writing," says Goodwin, "and leave the politics out of it."

SHORTLY AFTER last August's Watts riot, writer Budd Schulberg set up a writers' workshop there in conjunction with the Westminister Neighborhood Association. It is mostly a young group of 18- and 19-year-old hopefuls, and Schulberg himself teaches them on Friday nights.

He feels there is one potentially good poet and may be two or three prose writers in the class, which is small.

"Bonanza's" Dortort contends that any new writer, white or black, finds it rough to crack Hollywood TV because the producers aren't really looking for new writers. It is easier to rely on the established writers who know both the technique and the requirements.

"But I must have 34 new scripts each season, so I've had to reach out for new writers over the past seven years," reports Dortort, a former writer himself. "I'd say that 25 percent of all 'Bonanza' scripts have been by new people, and that comes out to about 50 writers."

Driver Reports Shots; Newell Auto Damaged

A Newell motorist told police shots were fired at his car while he was driving through East End early Sunday en route to work in Midland.

James B. Gadd of 1st St. told police he sped away from the scene of the firing near Neville School at Pennsylvania Ave. and Elizabeth St. and continued to Midland.

Examining his auto, he told officers he found places on the right fender and moulding around the rear window which had been struck.

Gadd said he heard what sounded like shots just after passing a car whose occupants said something to him. The motorist said he couldn't distinguish what was said. The incident was timed at 5:30 a.m.

Insurance Agent Gets Roundtable Honors For 1966

Ben Feldman of St. Clair Ave., an agent of New York Life, has qualified again for membership in the 1966 Million Dollar Round Table, the life insurance industry's international organization of top salesmen.

Membership in the round table is a life insurance career milestone. The organization provides a meeting ground for top life insurance men who seek to further improve their knowledge and ability to serve the public.

To belong, a member must have written one million dollars of new life insurance, paid for in 1965 in accordance with the rules of the organization, although life members may have earned the honor by fulfilling previous qualifications.

The Million Dollar Round Table will meet June 19-24 in Boston's Statler Hilton Hotel. Educational lectures, workshops, panel discussions, seminars and other sessions will mark the five-day schedule.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Projects Boon To Culturally Deprived

Dr. Garry Myers

For many years until recently, a nursery school was largely a privilege of children of well-to-do parents. To many of these parents the nursery school was a status symbol. There arose in places some popular demand for free nursery schools for all children around three or four years of age.

When these children enter the first grade they are likely to be shy and timid, passive and withdrawn, or aggressive and unruly. As they continue in school, they lag behind their fellows and are mental dropouts long before they enter school.

The Office of Economic Opportunity by mid-June of 1965, approved and promised to finance up to 90 of the cost. Community programs enrolled over 55,000 children. It arranged for 117 colleges and universities to give short training courses to prospective "Head Start" teachers.

At the end of the summer 45,000 teachers, doctors and social workers were participating in the programs. The classes are limited to 20 children, 15 preferred.

In the PTA Magazine for March, Irwin Ross writes a vivid report of this program and how it has worked. All the tests and observations of this program, which will continue and reach many more children the coming summer and throughout the year, give strong evidence of its great success.

MR. ROSS says: "Of all the programs in the war on poverty, Project Head Start has involved the largest number of individuals, aroused the greatest enthusiasm at the grassroots level, and caused the least controversy."

My bulletins "Why Read to Baby and Young Child" and "Letting Baby and Tot Learn" may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

As a part of this program, "Head - Start," began last summer when half a million preschool children from poverty-stricken families were gathered in schoolhouses in such widely varying areas as Harlem slums, Indian reservations, the Delta country of Mississippi, and the isolated areas of Appalachia.

These children otherwise would have a hard time in the grades for the lack of rudimentary language and knowledge most other children pick up at view.

Organized Search Called Off In Pennsylvania Kidnaping

SHADE GAP, Pa. (AP) — A massive search through the woods and hills for a 17-year-old schoolgirl and the mysterious rifleman who abducted her last week has ended without results.

State police said Sunday night they would maintain their command post located in a picnic grove, and continue interviewing residents, but the foot-by-foot search would be abandoned.

The girl, Peggy Ann Bradnick, 17, an attractive girl, was abducted last Wednesday as she and her five younger brothers and sisters were walking home from school.

Her abductor, police think, is the mysterious "Mountain Man" accused of several sniper shootings in the area in the past two years.

State Police Lt. Edward P. Mitarnowski, who called off the search, said, however, that "we are not giving up."

Mitarnowski said the state police and FBI agents would continue the investigation.

The command post, too, would remain in operation for about a week. A helicopter and two German Shepherd dogs brought Sunday from El Dorado, Ark., will also remain, Mitarnowski said.

Brief Scuffle Mars March

Against War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Except for a brief scuffle and a few hecklers, the march against war might have been as peaceful as the weather.

Led by Dr. Benjamin Spock, children's health specialist, the 11,000 protesters trudged by the White House Sunday in breezy 75-degree weather.

Most were silent. Some pushed baby carriages. A few younger marchers sang. Many carried signs denouncing the Johnson administration stand in Viet Nam.

Later, they swarmed up the grassy knoll near the Washington Monument to an outdoor amphitheater for a rally where they heard, among others, Spock and 81-year-old Socialist leader Norman Thomas.

The scuffle occurred between some antiwar marchers who carried Viet Cong flags—which had been prohibited by march organizers — and two men wearing Nazi swastika armbands.

Police arrested the two men, charging them with disorderly conduct.

Weather Boosts Crowd For Park

Taking advantage of sunny weather, more than 3,000 persons visited Beaver Creek State Park Sunday afternoon, according to Elmer Hiles, park manager.

Road improvements in the park area are under way. Building of trails, picnic areas and other facilities is scheduled for this summer, officials of the Ohio Division of Parks have reported.

Volunteer workers are needed in the next two weeks to complete preparation of the Williamsport Church and Gastons Mill for this season.

The following work schedule has been set by the Columbiana County Forests and Parks Council, the sponsoring organization.

May 18 and 25, cleanup at the mill site; May 21, painting of the church; and May 28, cleaning church and grounds.

Work at the church will begin at 9:30 a.m. daily. The church will be dedicated May 29 at 2:30 p.m. Construction work on the mill will resume May 23.

Pope Hits Poles

For Ban On Visit

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI says the reasons given by Communist Poland for blocking his planned visit there earlier this month "are not justified."

The pontiff said Sunday that the Warsaw regime's decision, preventing him from making a pilgrimage to Poland May 3, had caused him "deep displeasure."

In a speech closing the Vatican celebration of the 1,000th anniversary of Christianity in Poland, the Pope also defended Polish prime minister Jacek Gielarski against charges of political meddling.

The pontiff had been invited by Cardinal Wyszyński to come to Poland to help celebrate the millennium of Polish Christianity. The Polish hierarchy had hoped he would be able to preside at ceremonies at Czestochowa, climaxing the celebrations.

But late in March the Warsaw government said such a visit, which would have been the first in history by a Pope to a Communist land, would be "inopportune." The rejection came during a church-state uproar caused by a letter of reconciliation sent last fall by Polish bishops to West German Roman Catholic bishops.

Hospital Treats 21

Mower Mishaps Injure 4 In Area

A Georgetown area man was hospitalized and three other district residents were treated at City Hospital over the weekend as a result of lawn mower mishaps. A total of 18 others were treated following a variety of accidents.

Joseph Whitehill, 56, of Georgetown R.D. 1 was in "fairly good" condition today with lacerations of three fingers which caught in a lawn mower Saturday.

Eddie Stone of 1240 Willow Ln., Wellsville, was treated for a laceration and fracture of the left great toe which caught in a mower Saturday.

Kenneth Kraft, son of Christy Kraft of 1711 Orchard St., was treated Sunday for an injury to the right leg struck by an object hurled by a mower.

Mrs. Betty Davis of Simmons St. was treated yesterday for an abrasion of the left knee which was hit by an object knocked by a lawn mower.

Robert McKinnon of 116 W. 2nd St. was treated early this morning for an injury to the thumb which caught between a sewer pipe and steel band at work at the American Vitified Products Co.

TREATED SUNDAY were:

Ronald Virdon, son of Richard Virdon of Glenn St., a puncture wound on the roof of the mouth from a nail; Dana Linkous, son of Charles Linkous of 768 Minerva St., a bruised thumb which caught in a car door.

Jeffrey Dennis, son of Earl Dennis of Chester R.D. 1, a cut of the eyelid in a fall; Sandy Clutter, daughter of John Clutter of Dixonville, a cut finger on which a window descended.

John Boyd, Hookstown R.D. 1, a laceration of a finger on a license plate; Teresa Waggle, daughter of David Waggle of 508 Elm St., a bruised forehead and abrasions of the knees and nose in a fall down 15 steps on a tricycle.

Frank Drago, son of Michael Drago of Wellsville R.D. 1, an injury to the left eye on a piece of metal; Timothy Shields, son of Michael Shields of 934 Center St., Wellsville, a bruised head in a fall onto a floor.

KENNETH ROSE, son of James Rose of Lisbon R.D. 1, a possible fracture of the nose when hit by a baseball.

Treated Saturday were: Richard Keith Lowe, son of Richard Lowe of 321 W. 3rd St., a laceration of the face and abrasions of the knee in a fall roller skating; David Hudson of 1205 Jennings Ave., a laceration of the chin in a fall off a porch.

Fred Parfitt, son of Robert Parfitt of Stagecoach Settlement, a puncture wound of the left foot on a nail; Wayne Watson, son of Raymond Watson of 1063 Township Line Rd., a laceration of the hand on glass.

Robert Bissell, son of Mrs. Harold Bissell of 526 Wedgewood Ave., burns of the legs, arm and waist in a fall into an ash pit near the Horace Mann School; Janet Webber, daughter of James Webber of Cannons Mills, a wound of the thumb when bitten by a ground squirrel.

Earl Allen of Irondale, a laceration of a knuckle on a piece of metal, and Frank Fife, of 375 1/2 Main St., Wellsville, maintenance man at Waterford Park, an injury to the hand which caught in a truck tailgate.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Weight Woes? Try Something New

"I'm having a terrible time staying on my diet. For the first time I am too ashamed of my looks to go to parties or meetings. I can only wear one of my suits and one jumper. The situation is so bad it should provide a strong incentive for keeping my resolution."

Ida Jean Kain

"But every time I go on a diet I get depressed, so I eat and end up more depressed. Could you give me a quick diet that would get me down to an attractive figure? Then, if I'm proud of my looks, I'll probably stay on the diet. Tell me, is it inevitable to feel depressed and tired on any diet?"

LET'S analyze your dilemma. You intensely dislike being overweight, so you are in a mildly depressed state to start with. Not happy with dieting, you give your mind self-defeating thoughts about the outcome. In short you bog down. Your terrible struggle stems from the fact that you shun exercise and pin your hopes on a quickie diet that leaves you further depleted.

Try something new, challenging and energizing. Set a date to go to an important function 30 days hence. Plan to wear a favorite dress, one that is now impossible to tight. Give your mind the picture of you, zipping into that dress, looking simply smashing.

The way to restore energy is to exercise. You are tired because you are not using your muscles. Lack of exercise leads to flabbiness and in turn to lethargy. Toned muscles will help you to look and feel slimmer. Start today to ease into an exercise routine that will restore tone and get your posture on the beam. Stretch, centering the up pull through the middle measurement, abdominal muscles pulled up and in, hip muscles contracted. Hold. Bend sideways to slim the midriff and doff the duff.

Swing to slim the hips. Start with five minutes of specific calisthenics and gradually increase to 15 minutes a day—every day!

To restore the bloom, get out, and walk for 40 minutes a day, covering about two miles. Walk off your depression.

REGARDING diet: A quickie diet is futile. Eat three moderate meals a day, made of foods that furnish proper calories.

Build your meals around lean meat, fish or chicken, eggs, cheese or cottage cheese; vegetables and fruits. Have two halves of bread a day, with a slice of butter or margarine for each slice. Include a pint of skim milk or buttermilk. Limit dessert to fruit. On that protective pattern you can shore up sagging tissue and lose excess fat.

Come on! You can have what you wholeheartedly want. Just remember the old saying that "Life leaps like a geyser for those who are willing to drill through the rock of inertia!"

Send a stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for Isometric Exercises and Eat To Build Leanness. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of The Review.

Britain's Hit

By Ship Tieup

LONDON (AP) — Merchant crews on hundreds of ships from tramp steamers to giant liners walked off the job today in a wage strike that could strangle the economy of this island nation.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson, beset with the crisis less than three months after his election victory, reviewed emergency plans to deal with the walkoff by the 65,000-member National Union of Seamen.

In a broadcast to the nation tonight, Wilson is expected to warn Britons against panic buying and hoarding of food.

The full impact of the strike will not be felt immediately. About 300 ships were reported idled in British ports as the strike began at midnight.

The rest of Britain's 2,500-merchant fleet is expected to be immobilized at the rate of about 300 a week as the ships dock in British ports.

The strike only affects British vessels. Passengers on cross-channel ferries to the Continent are not hindered.

The seamen are demanding a 40-hour week, overtime and other benefits that add up to a $7.14 wage hike. They have been working a 56-hour week for a basic weekly wage of $42.

A Junior Editors Quiz About
TREE BARK

QUESTION: Why does a tree have bark?

ANSWER: Looking at the cross section of a tree trunk as at upper left, we can get a clear idea of the reasons for its special structure. The tiny spot in the center shows the tree in its first year. Each ring after that shows one year's growth. The darker group of rings in the center shows the part of the tree trunk which is no longer engaged in the business of carrying water and sap up and down, which it did when the tree was young. But it acts as a strong central structure holding the tree up in the air. The outer rings show the active part of the trunk. Through this, sap goes up toward the leaves. In the outside part, just under the bark, food comes down which has been made by the leaves and is distributed. The bark is a strong outside layer which has the special job of protecting the easily damaged inner sapwood. Sometimes it splits into rough plates, but sometimes it is smooth, like the white birch bark the Indians in the picture are peeling to build the beautiful canoes once made by them. Sections of bark were sewed together, waterproofed on the edges with pitch, and attached to a light wooden framework. The young warrior is imitating a moose's call on his bark horn. He's hoping to serve moose steak for supper.

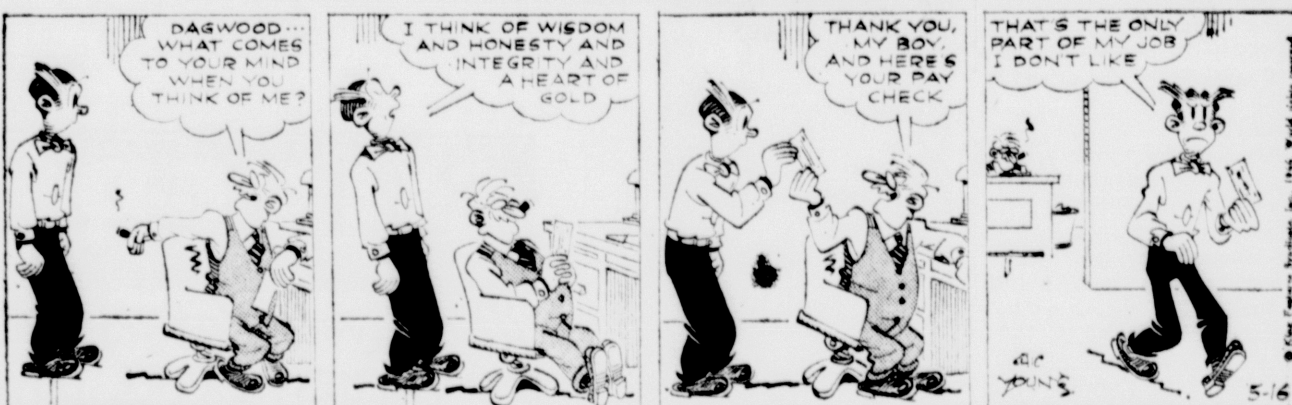

FOR YOU TO DO: Look for a broken limb or tree branch on the ground to examine what's underneath, but don't peel or cut down a living tree in order to do this. Trees can be very easily killed if their protective bark layer is removed.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, May 16, the 136th day of 1966. There are 229 days left in the year.

On this date in 1860, the Republican national convention that was to nominate Abraham Lincoln for president met in Chicago.

On this date —

In 1770, Marie Antoinette was married to Louis XVI, who was then the Dauphin of France.

In 1866, Congress authorized the nickel 5-cent piece.

In 1871, British Columbia was admitted as a province of the Dominion of Canada.

In 1933, New Jersey voted to repeal the 18th Amendment.

In 1943, the British Royal Air Force bombed factories in Berlin.

Ten years ago — Egypt became the first Arab country to recognize Communist China.

Five years ago — Units of the South Korean armed forces revolted and overthrew the government of Premier Chang, turning control over to a military junta.

One year ago — Heavy fighting continued in the Dominican Republic after the Dominican rebels and military junta both turned down a proposed coalition government.

Officers Cite Motorist, 56, After Mishap

A Washington, Pa., motorist forfeited a bond today in Municipal Court on a charge filed as the result of one of four weekend traffic accidents.

Victor Schepisi, 56, forfeited $17.50 on a charge of driving left of center after being cited Saturday night following a collision at W. 3rd St. and East Alley.

The crash, police said, involved Schepisi's eastbound auto and a westbound car driven by Edith I. Farnsworth, 41, of Glenmoor.

The Glenmoor woman said his car went left of center and struck her auto. Schepisi maintained a parking auto crowded the woman's car into his.

Another crash on W. 3rd St. at Jackson St. involved autos operated by Charles B. Mills, 33, of 531 Jefferson St., Newell, and Stanley M. Krawiec, 53, of 336 Louisiana Ave., Chester.

Krawiec told police he had halted on Jackson St., didn't see any approaching traffic and pulled out and struck the 1963 convertible operated by Mills and owned by Eugene Thomas, 506 College St.

A collision at 4:10 p.m. Saturday at Webber Way and Jefferson St. involved cars operated by Joseph E. Rawlings, 23, of 1216 Center St., Wellsville, and Robert H. Ferguson, 54, of 907 W. 8th St.

Ferguson told police his foot missed the brake pedal and he hit the rear of Rawlings' auto which was halted.

Police said Rawlings was driving a 1963 auto owned by Esther Rawlings of 317 15th St., Wellsville, and Ferguson was driving a 1962 car owned by Mike Turk, Inc.

Robert L. Edgell, 37, of 1552 Pennsylvania Ave., told police his halted car was struck by a hit-skip motorist Sunday night on Railroad St.

Edgell said the driver came out of an alley, struck the left rear of his 1965 sedan and then backed up and drove away. The motorist said he knew the car that struck him and turned over the Pennsylvania license number to police.

Beaver Local Board Slated To Study Bids

Awarding of a contract for construction of four additional classrooms — one each at the Beaver Local School District elementary schools — is expected at a meeting of the Board of Education tonight at 8 at the high school.

The Potters Construction Co. of Calcutta submitted the lowest of three bids received Friday.

Potters bid $14,941. Other bidders were Floyd Cox of East Liverpool, $15,797, and Brian Spalte & Son of East Palestine, $20,785.

Supt. Roy Cashdollar said in all four projects the work consists of erecting a wall to enclose a present entry area which provides three of the walls, and finishing the room interior.

Electric heating will be used instead of running ducts from the central heating plants at the schools.

Work is scheduled to begin when school is dismissed next month, and the rooms are to be available for the fall term.

The board also is expected to award contracts for a septic tank and well at the new bus garage at the high school.

Demonstrations Due At U.S. Steel

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — A civil rights leader says demonstrations will be staged at U.S. Steel Corp. facilities across the nation to improve opportunities for Negro advancement in the corporation, the country's largest steelmaker.

The demonstrations by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will focus on Birmingham, Ala., site of U.S. Steel's largest Southern operation, says Henry R. Smith Jr., president of the Pennsylvania NAACP.

The vice president of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s Southern Christian Leadership Conference Sunday night threatened a nationwide boycott of the furniture industry.

2 Named As Officers By Palestine's Mayor

EAST PALESTINE — Alan Huston of Young St. and Martin Kintz of Christopher Court were named regular patrolmen by Mayor Robert Harding over the weekend.

Both men recently passed a Civil Service examination, and have been working on a part-time basis, the mayor said.

They fill vacancies created by the resignations of Clifford Davis and Wayne Huston. Both men are married and ex-service-

CITY _____ STATE _____

To meet the community need for authoritative funeral counsel, The Dawson Funeral Home has prepared a brochure dealing sensibly with the subject of death and the problems facing those who must bear the burden of making funeral arrangements.

The brochure explains how to select a funeral director, what he can do for you, what you should do at this time of responsibility, what you can expect a funeral to cost, and the necessity for modern funeral service.

What we have written is direct, yet reflects taste and understanding. It also explains the reasons we are proud to be a member, by invitation, of National Selected Morticians, an international association of funeral directors of high ideals, ethical practices and business integrity.

Simply telephone us for a copy of this informative brochure, or fill out and mail the coupon. There is no charge or obligation for this important booklet, which every family should keep handy in the event funeral arrangements become a personal responsibility.
